HOUSE DEMOCRATS CALL IN A BODY

Woodrow Wilson Recipient Distinguished Courtesy at Sea Girt Yesterday.

WALKER W. VICK APPOINTED

New York Headquarters Ready—Book of Autographs Presented to Governor by Champ Clark—$500,000 From South.

Seagirt, N. J., July 20.—Champ Clark, Speaker of the House, led his caravan of followers a tortuous way along the dusty roads of Seagirt to Governor Wilson's Summer home here today. They came, 116 strong, from the House of Representatives in a special train from Washington to shake hands with the new nominee and bid him good speed for the Presidency. It was the first time in the history of the United States that Democrats or Republicans in Congress had quit their work to dash across the country and hail the party standard bearer.

Governor Wilson met them half way down the walk stretching away from his front porch to the roadway, and escorted Mr. Clark to the wide porch and there completed the welcome by grasping every pilgrim by the hand.

Mr. Clark had something to say and he did not wait until the long line of Representatives had filed by and had its collective say, so he held up the procession for a minute or two and told the Governor that they had come to see him and wish him well in his fight, and that they had brought along their autographs in a little book to remind him some day that the Democratic majority in the House had closed up office and traveled down to Seagirt to get acquainted with the next President. Would he please take it?

The Governor was quite confused for a moment as he looked out over the crowd of expectant faces on his lawn and started to speak. The words died away before they reached his lips, repressed by the volume of a hearty cheer. Presently the noise ceased and the Governor told them that he would treasure the book as greatly as he had welcomed their coming, and as long as they were here he wanted to say that he hoped it was just the beginning of a long acquaintance.

There were two knids of ways for a President to get along with the House of Representatives, the Governor said. One was not to keep in close and intimate touch with its members, but to be concerned in its deliberations only. That would not be his way, if he had the chance. He greeted them today as his partners and comrades in a solemn duty which they owed to the American people.

After the Governor ceased speaking and Mrs. Wilson had come out on the porch to take her place beside him, the long line filed past, shaking hands with them both. Representatives Hughes, of New Jersey, was selected to introduce his colleagues to the Governor. Speaker Clark stayed and chatted for a quarter of an hour or more with the Governor.

After a photographer had grouped them all about the lawn with the Governor and the Speaker in the center, they separated into knots. Twenty-five or 30 went over to Asbury Park by automobile and trolley. A delegation of inland members treated themselves to a sight of the Atlantic ocean, a mile away from the Governor's cottage, and some went in the surf.

The Governor sat bareheaded in a rocker on his lawn with Representative Hardwick, of Georgia, and Henry, of Texas, on either hand.

"We folks down South," Mr. Hardwick told the Governor, "are for you, but we feel that we are sort of out of the reckoning. So some of us talked it over on the train coming up and we've decided to go back home and raise half a million dollars for you and give it to your campaign manager to spend it where it is needed."

After Mr. Hardwick told reporters that he and his friends planned to raise the money by going to all the editors of country newspapers in their districts and getting them to start a campaign fund through popular subscription. They thought this scheme should add at least half a million dollars to the fund. It might be even more.

Representative Gregg, of Pennsylvania, interrupted to say that Pennsylvania was going for Wilson in November. Representative Wilson, from the same State, added there was no doubt of it because of the Governor's popularity there and because of the split in the Republican ranks.

Cotter Bride, of Washington, at whose home William J. Bryan generally stays when in the National capital, said he thought the Nebraskan ought to come East some time in August and that Seagirt might get a glimpse of him then.

Representative Sabath, of Illinois, who came here prepared to say that he wasn't going to support Governor Wilson if he found the Governor entertained race prejudices, had a long and earnest talk with him.

"He is fair and broad enough for me," Mr. Sabath said afterwards. "We talked about what Governor Wilson

MEXIGAN REBELS SACK TRAIN

Federal Troops Drew Their Fire and Sixty Were Massacred—Set Fire to Debris After Bomb Explosion. Slaughter Stopped by Priest.

Mexico City, Mex., July 20.—More than sixty persons are dead and many more wounded as a result of an attack by Zapatistas on a passenger train between this city and Cuernavaca, Morelos, early today.

The Zapatistas, said to number 500, placed a mine under the railroad track—which expoded as the locomotive passed over it. The overturned engine hardly had settled when the Zapatistas sprang up from all sides and poured a murderous fire into the train.

The object of their attack was a second class coach in which were riding a Federal military escort with a captain and two lieutenants. The Federals got out of the car as quickly as possible and answered the fire of the assailants, but their efforts were futile. All of the command, with the exception of five wounded and two who escaped, were killed.

Thirty passengers in the second-class coach were killed and many wounded. In the first class coach no one was killed, but five were dangerously wounded and may die. The conductor, an American named Aller, is not expected to live.

After the train had been swept by their fire and a few of the passengers were not killed or wounded, the Zapatistas rushed upon their stricken victims and began killing the wounded. A priest, unhurt, pleaded with DeOca, the rebel leader, to stop the slaughter, and it ceased.

After sacking the express and baggage cars, the rebels poured oil on the cars and, putting the bodies of the dead in them, set fire to the train.

When the relief train arrived, there was nothing but debris and a few persons, most of whom were too badly hurt to tell the tale.

Ex-President Gomez Arrested

San Antonio, Texas, July 20.—Emilio Vasquez Gomez, for a short time Provisional President of Mexico, was arrested tonight by Federal Secret Service officers and taken before the United States Commissioner.

At about the same time Francisco Guzman, Gomez's private secretary, and Dr. P. Rueda were taken into custody on the streets, and Francisco Perez and Felipe Mivannon were arrested while boarding a train for El Paso.

THREE DAYS OR MORE.

Roosevelt Forces Getting Ready for Convention at Chicago Next Month.

Chicago, July 20.—Three, or possibly four, days will be the duration of the third party National convention to open in Chicago August 5th, according to details decided at Roosevelt headquarters today.

Tickets are to be distributed with a preference shown toward applicants who will have contributed money toward the expenses. It is estimated that almost the entire expenses of the convention, $25,000, may be paid by the sale of tickets.

George F. Porter, chairman of the committee on hall, today said the arrangements of the convention in this coliseum will be the same as those at the recent Republican convention. The delegates, however, will require only half the number of seats needed at the Republican convention, as there will be only one Roosevelt delegate for every two Republican delegates. This will leave more than 500 more seats for spectators.

Senator Joseph M. Dixon, Col. Roosevelt's campaign manager, is expected on Monday to take up with Medill D. McCormick in charge of the Chicago headquarters, arrangements for the convention. It was believed at headquarters that Senator Dixon would insist on a full third party ticket in Illinois, as he did in Michigan.

After the war he lived in the South for a number of years and was once mayor of Petersburg, Va. Later he built a reservoir at Richmond. General Newberry was a close friend of General Pickett of the Confederate army.

In 1876 he came to Chicago where he became postmaster and later was elected to Congress.

Washington, D. C., July 20.—Major L. J. Hawley, a veteran of the 10th Virginia Cavalry, Confederate army, died here today. Interment will be at Richmond, Va.

JAPAN'S EMPEROR IS NEARING DEATH

Ruler of Kingdom Is Suffering From Attack of Acute Nephritis

GRAVEST ANXIETY IS FELT

Empress in Constant Attendance Upon Her Husband's Bedside—May Pass at Any Time—Tokio in State of Gloom.

Tokio, July 20.—The critical illness of Mutsuhito, the Emperor of Japan, is causing the gravest anxiety. The court physicians have pronounced the case acute nephritis, with alarming symptoms of uraemic poisoning.

It was believed yesterday afternoon that the Emperor was sinking and all the Ministers of State assembled at the Imperial Palace, but His Majesty rallied somewhat. During the night the temperature of the patient subsided appreciably, and he was able to take a little nourishment.

At 8 o'clock this morning, the secretary of the Imperial household, gave out the information that His Majesty's condition was unchanged. He was sleeping at 5:30 o'clock and was very weak.

The Empress, who has been in almost constant attendance since the acute attack, remained at the bedside throughout the night.

The following bulletin was issued at 10 o'clock this morning: Temperature 102.2; pulse 102; respiration 32. Drowsiness continues; when awake, consciousness is clearer. Nourishment was given His Majesty this morning. Condition remains unchanged.

STEEL TRUST INQUIRY.

Republican Members of Committee Will Submit a Report.

Washington, July 20.—The Republican members of the Stanley Steel Trust Investigating Committee worked today on a report of their views of the results of the steel inquiry, and when it is submitted to the House it will create more of a sensation than that prepared by Chairman Stanley.

This assertion was made by a member of the committee today. He said the Republican recommendations would be more far-reaching than those made by the Democrats and that the bills to be suggested to the House would be for constructive legislation to amend the trust laws rather than censure of the officials who failed to curb the growth of the steel trust.

The Republicans will find much to praise in the Stanley report, but will differ with its conclusions.

The findings of the Stanley faction of the committee will not be accepted by the Republicans, but some of the legislation proposed in the Stanley report will be indorsed. Representative Gardner, of Massachusetts, will resist the suggestion of Chairman Stanley that the reports and data gathered by the Commissioner of Corporations be made available to Congress. He fears if the law is changed the Bureau of Corporations will be unable to get information in the future.

Repersentative Gardner will stand by Representative Stanley on the bill amending the Sherman Act by putting the burden on defendants to prove that their combination is not "unreasonable restraint" of trade. Other Republicans will join with Representative Littleton, Democrat, in opposing this bill.

The Republican members will not recommend the dissolution of the steel trust. They say that the committee long ago decided that no move was to be made to embarrass the government's case against the steel corporation and they will adhere to it.

Those Who Will Have Active Charge of Campaign Are Named.

West, Chicago, Ill., and Ralph Williams, Dalles, Ore. The selections are the result of two days delfberations of a sub-committee of the National committee, which was empowered also to select an advisory committee and a treasurer. The work of picking the latter officials was not completed, ohwever, today.

DROWNED AT PALM BEACH

Two Bathers Lost Their Lives While Bathing Yesterday

West Palm Beach, Fla., July 20.—W. H. Whidden, aged 45, and Darry Bladgett, aged 25, were drowned while bathing in the ocean near here today. At the time of the drowning the men were accompanied by Allen W. Roe and two women. All got beyond their depth but after a struggle Roe rescued the two women. The bodies were recovered.

PROGRESSIVES IN MICHIGAN

Led by Dixon They Kick Clear Out Of Party Traces—Full Tickets Named at State Convention Yesterday

Jackson, Miss., July 20.—Michigan Progressives divorced themselves absolutely from the Republican party in their State convention here today.

By almost a unanimous vote the delegates went on record as favoring the placing of an entire ticket, both State and National in the field. A few instructed delegates voted against the move in order to record the sentiment of their home counties but explained to the convention that they personally were for separation from the old party.

Delegates to the National Progressive party convention in Chicago, Presidential electors, members of the State Central Committee and a member of the National Committee were chosen today.

At the time of the adjournment of the day's session the convention had not recorded its sentiments regarding candidates for State offices. The State Central Committee, however, was asked to recommend to the convention a candidate for Governor and to report at a night session. The recommendation of the committee does not mean nomination by the convention, however. By the provisions of the Michigan primary law, any man can file a petition for any nomination on the Progressive ticekt if he has a sufficient number of names.

The coming of Senator Joseph M. Dixon to the convention probably had as much to do with carrying the "full ticket" plan as anything. The factions for a "stub" ticket or the nomination of Presidential electors only, and the "full ticket" crowd were lined up for a bitter fight when he arrived. But he told them that Colonel Roosevelt wanted a full State ticket and after that it was all over but the shouting. The shouting, however, required much time for the convention was as enthusiastic as the thousand or more delegates and a brass band could make it.

Senator Dixon, while addressing the convention, declared "it is a better chance now that Roosevelt will be elected than it was last March that he would be nominated."

He charged that Progressive sentiment was being edited out of many papers.

New York will go Progressive, he said, and he named as delegates to the Chicago convention, Bourke Cockran, General Horatio King and Governor Garvin, of Rhode Island.

THE ALLEN TRIAL.

Ten Witnesses for Prosecution Heard at Wytheville Yesterday.

Wytheville, Va., July 20.—Ten witnesses for the commonwealth testified today in the trial of Claude Allen for participation in the shooting up of the Hillsville court. Three testified to having seen the defendant and his father in a whispered conversation shortly before the shooting. Others told of alleged threats Floyd Allen, the father, had made against court officers, declaring he would make a "hole in the court" if a penitentiary sentence in his case then on trial, was given. Court adjourned at 1:30 this afternoon until Monday morning.

BLANKET DENIAL MADE BY BLEASE

Palmetto Governor Says Felder and Burns Charges are Fabrications.

A SIXTY-PAGE STATEMENT

Allegations Are Taken Up Serially and Affidavits Are Submitted. Charleston End of the Story—As to Pardons.

Columbia, S. C., July 20.—Governor Cole Blease today issued his promised statement refuting the charges brought against him by Thomas B. Felder, of Georgia, and W. G. Burns, the detective. Including copies of affidavits, the statement makes about 60 pages of typewritten manuscript. Each and every charge of rumor is taken up separately and answered by the Governor.

Blease says Felder erred when he says he went to Charleston between the two primaries in 1910 to get money from the "tigers" for his (Blease's) campaign expenses. He says the statement that he is getting graft from the Charleston blind tigers originated with Mayor Grace, of this city, owing to the Governor's refusal to allow Grace to control the constabulary there.

The Governor denies that he received any money for his signature in the Interurban Railway Act or that he knew of any plans to buy a pardon for Gus DeFord or anyone else, and says that not one word about it had been said to him by Nicholls.

As to the pardon of F. W. Bentley, the Governor denies that he received pay for its issuance. He says a check for $25 was sent him for the payment of Bentley's railroad fare to his home in Iowa, but that no other money figured in the transaction.

The Governor mentions persons from whom petitions were received requesting pardons, one of whom was the Rev. Dr. W. A. C. Mueller, a Lutheran pastor of Charleston. He says the accusation made by Felder that $2,000 had been paid by Rabens for his freedom was a wilful falsehood and he submits affidavits from Rabens and Dr. Mueller purporting to deny this charge.

He presents an affidavit from H. H. Evans to the effect that he has never had any transactions with Blease as to dispensary affairs or that he and Blease were ever in Atlanta together nor has he ever had money paid to him by any party for Governor Blease.

Governor Blease also presented affidavits from a dozen persons that he was not concerned in any liquor or other corrupt transactions.

As to the famous "T. B." letters, of which Felder has denied authorship, the Governor said that he had submitted the letters to several gentlemen of Columbia who are familiar with the handwriting of Felder, and that these gentlemen are willing to go on the stand and swear that the letters were written by T. B. Felder. Persons in the State of Georgia, who are also familiar with the handwriting of Felder, had made the same assertions.

"I have also two letters written by Felder—one from England and one from a point in the United States—to a woman and the writing of these letters compared with those of the 'T. B.' letters, shows that the letters I hold were written by Felder."

In conclusion, the Governor says that he has endeavored to answer every charge made against him, but if any honest man in South Carolina desires any information regarding anything, however small, regarding any alleged dishonorable act, he is willing to answer the accusation.

New York, July 20.—Instead of the two Democrat campaign handbooks which it has been customary to issue for the benefit of speakers, in National campaigns there will be but one this Fall and that will be issued at an early date, it was learned tonight. Heretofore the Democratic Congressional Committee and the Democratic National Committee have each issued a book, but in this campaign it is proposed to combine the two.

MURDERER AT BAY; SUICIDES

Shot Woman He Admired, His Rival and Fled to Cornfields—Put Bullet Into His Own Brain. The Crime.

Allentown, Pa., July 20.—Hard pressed by policemen who wanted him on a charge of having murdered Lovina Price, of Scranton, Pa., and of having wounded William J. Free, of South Bethlehem, Pa., Eric Schaeffer, a young man of this city, came out from a corn field on the Lehigh mountain this afternoon and committed suicide by sending a bullet into his head.

Death was instantaneous. Schaeffer had traveled with a theatrical company as property man and after the company closed for the season, was employed as a bar tender in Allentown. The young woman who had been married to Scranton man named Price and whose maiden name was Caynes, was shot while in bed at her apartment in this city early today. She was found by neighbors and near her on the floor was Free with a bullet in his head and a finger shot off.

Suspicion at once rested on Schaeffer as he was known to have been an admirer of the girl and to have had some difficulty with Free over her. When Schaeffer could not be found policemen in automobiles set out to search for him. He was traced to Emaus, where the police lost trace of him. This afternoon the hunted made his appearance on the farm of John Muth, near Salisbury. He hid in the cornfield as officers passed and repassed on the road nearby. Muth met him in the field and asked him if he knew that the police were looking for a murderer. Schaeffer said he did not know anything about a murderer and explained his presence in the neighborhood by saying that he was tramping his way from Wilkesbarre to Allentown. Muth left him and the man then walked to a tree and shot himself in the head. He was dead when the farmer reached his side. The officers were summoned and they identified the man as Schaeffer.

Free was unconscious most of the day in a hospital. It was said this evening that the bullet that entered his head did not touch a vital spot and that he may recover.

In the room where the woman was shot the police found letters and postal cards showing that she had carried on correspondence with both men. Her widowed mother and two married sisters live in Scranton. A relative arrived here tonight from Scranton to take charge of the body.

HOME RULE, SAYS TEDDY.

Each State Must Work Out Its Own Progressive Problems.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 20.—"Home rule" is to be the policy in the formation of the National Progressive party. After a long conference with leaders from a number of States, Col. Roosevelt said tonight that each State would work out its own problems.

"Is there any truth in reports of serious discord in several States?" he was asked.

The colonel denied that there was any foundation for the reports and referred to the spirit in which the movement was begun and the common purpose of the founders of the party as shown at its birth in Chicago as evidence that there was no room for any serious differences.

It was pointed out that the difficulties which confront the new party are of another nature, consisting rather in putting a National organization on its feet in such a short period, especially in States where there is a lack of capable leaders.

George L. Record, who came here today from New Jersey; Charles H. Thompson, from Vermont; Herbert Knox Smith, former Commissioner of Corporations, from Connecticut, and John H. Maginis and Col. Thos. W. Dougherity, from Massachusetts, denied that there was anything in the nature of a break in the new party's ranks.

"I want ex-Democrats and ex-Republicans alike", said Col. Roosevelt. He added that he would insist that in no State should the new party enter into an agreement with the Republican organization under which it would bind itself to support electors who would vote for President Taft should he obtain the larger popular vote. The only other restriction he would impose, he said, would be that in no case must support be thrown to State candidates who would not support the National electors.

ARMY WORMS APPEAR.

Devastating Crops Around Anderson, S. C., According to Report.

Anderson, S. C., July 20.—Claiming that damage amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars threatens the crops of this section as a result of the advent of the army worm, the farmers of Anderson county issued a general appeal tonight for labor and money with which to eradicate the pest. Entomologists in the infected area assert that unless the worms are speedily stamped out, they will spread all over this and adjoining counties. All crops in the path of the pest are being devastated, it is said.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 20.—Gorham Tufts, Jr., the Oriental mystic and cult leader, convicted of having fraudulently obtained more than $100,000 from his wife, formerly the wealthy Mrs. Roe, of Fort Worth, Texas, was sentenced today to three years in San Quentin prison. The sentence was imposed after Tufts pleaded for probation.

ROSENTHAL CASE STIRS NEW YORK

"Bald Jack" Rose Who Hired Motor Car More Directly Connected

HOW MURDER WAS PLANNED

Lines Tightening Around Man's Slayer—Detectives Working In Several Cities to Which Murderers Fled—Arrests

New York, July 20.—"Bald Jack" Rose, who hired the motor car which carried the murderers of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, to the scene of the crime, was connected more directly with the case tonight by implication of Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty.

Rose has claimed that he was not responsible for the movements of the automobile. Commissioner Dougherty said he had talked with Shapiero, chaffeur of the "death car," and added: "In spite of the fact that Rose says he dismissed the car, Shapiero says he did not."

The tone in which the commissioner made this statement implied he placed little credence in Rose's statement that he got out of the car long before it reached the Metropole Hotel, the scene of the murder. Rose claims he can prove an alibi for the time an hour before and an hour after the killing.

"There is one other thing we have learned," said the commissioner. "It is in regard to the way the murder was planned. Undoubtedly it was planned but our investigation has failed to substantiate the story that Rosenthal was called out of the Hotel Metropole when he was shot at the door. As far as we have been able to learn, he left the hotel of his own volition."

Two of the commissioner's visitors today were elaborately gowned young women and another a young man. Their appearance seemed to relieve the commissioner of much anxiety. The identity of all was carefully guarded.

While the police were busy with their end of the case the district attorney's office, with the force of private detectives which has been employed was working along independent lines. The District Attorney himself who left last night on an "important mission," was still away. Those who are working with Mr. Whitman felt tonight that the lines are tightening about the slayers of Rosenthal.

Every move in the crime is known to the district attorney's office to the full satisfaction of the men handling the investigation, it is stated. The name and description of every man who rode in the "murder car" is known. The name of the man who is said to have called Rosenthal from the Metropole cafe to the street where the murderers were awaiting to shoot him is known as well as his movements after his death message was given.

Most important of all in the estimation of the district attorney's aides is that there are within reach a number of eye witnesses of the murder who will be able to clinch these facts so that they will be available as evidence.

Detectives in the employ of the district attorney are now working in several cities where participants in the assassination are believed to have fled.

WOULD-BE MILLIONAIRES.

Young "Dead Game" in Chicago Finally Comes to Grief.

Csicago, July 20—Representing himself to be a son of U. S. Senator Guggenheim, of Colorado, Fred L. Lennox, 22 years old, a draughtsman from Buffalo, N. Y., led the life of a millionaire for two days at a fashionable Chicago hotel.

Lennox came to Chicago last Thursday and registered under the name of O. Guggenheim. After being in the city a few hours he purchased an automobile, tendering a check in payment.

He employed a chauffeur and rode about the boulevards and parks until today when a representative of the company from whom he had purchased the automobile conferred with the manager of the hotel and the young man was requested to settle his accounts. He failed to do so and his arrest followed.

New York, July 20.—The statement of actual conditions of the clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $19,165,800 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is an increase of $8,459,250 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

At a local vaudeville show a man and a woman are asking each other questions on subjects political and otherwise. This is one of them: "What will be the first thing Teddy will do when he enters the White House next March 4th?" queried the man. The woman answered promptly: "He will say good morning, Mr. Wilson."—Greensboro News.

Boston, July 20.—The Red Sox pulled out a ninth inning victory over Chicago with Walsh pitching today, 3 to 2. It was Boston's fourth win of the series. Lewis' single, a passed ball and a sacrifice put Lewis on third with one out. Stahl, who had knocked out a home run earlier, and Wagner, who had previously doubled, were passed at Manager Callahan's orders. Carrigan was expected to be an easy out, but he hit the ball cleanly over second base and the game was won.

Detroit took the second contest 6 to 5, by a batting rally in the eighth inning which netted four runs. In this game Delhanty was sent to bat for Onslow in the sixth inning with the bases filled. He fouled off the first ball pitched to him and was then relieved by Stanage.

Caldwell, running for Simmons, tied the score when he stole home. Chase's infield hit scored Maloney with the winning run. Caldwell pitched his best game of the season in the second game, holding Cleveland to four hits, one of which was a fluke, Pekinpaugh's grounder hitting Kaler. STREET CAR JUMPED TRACK.

Dirt Washed Over Rails by Heavy Rain the Cause of Accident.

Dirt washed over the rails by a heavy rain that was falling caused a northbound belt car to jump the track at Front and Market streets yesterday morning about 11:45. No damage was done and none of the few passengers was injured. The car was halted almost immediately after leaving the rails. Traffic was delayed for a short time by reason of the accident.

Motorman Garrison was operating the car, which was in charge of Conductor Wooten. As the car came north up Front street Mr. Garrison was unable to see the dirt on the tracks because they were slightly covered with water. The dirt had been washed down from a pile at the street corner, where the Atlantic Trust & Banking Companys new steel frame building is now in course of construction. The car ran into the dirt and left the tracks, turning almost halfway around and heading up Market street. Motorman Garrison had it under perfect control, however, and he stopped it almost simultaneously as it left the tracks. When halted the car was standing across the track, pointing east up Market street. There were several passengers on the car, but beyond a slight shaking up they were none the worse for the accident.

The wrecking crew of the Tidewater Power Company was on the scene in a short time and in a very few minutes the car was back on the rails. It was not damaged and proceeded on its run.

DELGADO TRIUMPHS.

Administered Crushing Defeat to Picked City League Team.

Delgado and a picked team from the City Baseball League played an interesting and closely contested game at Hilton Park yesterday afternoon, the cotton mill men defeating the city contingent by the close score of three to nothing. The game was well played throughout and was at times very exciting. Holt and Watson formed the batteries for Delgado and their battery work was the feature. Sneed and Sweeney did the mound work for the City Leaguers.

Delgado has been anxious to close a date for a game with the strong A. C. L. Athlet's team and yesterday posted a forfeit for a game with that organization next Saturday, the winners of the game to receive 60 per cent. of the gate receipts. The Delgado team is a strong one and believe they can successfully contend for diamond honors with any nine in this section.

GOVERNOR KITCHIN'S ATTACKS ON SENATOR SIMMONS BROUGHT UP TO DATE AND ANSWERED.

It has been Senator Simmons' policy since Governor Kitchin began his campaign of attack upon him to engage in no controversy, but simply, when a misstatement was made as to his record, to give the facts.

Nearly all the criticisms of his record so far have been based either upon a mistatement of the record facts or a misrepresentation by suppressing an essential part of the record.

What has been said with reference to Senator Simmons' votes on lumber, coal, and iron ore has been abundantly answered heretofore in detail. All that is necessary to be said in addition to what has heretofore been said is that if the 7 per cent duty on lumber, 15 per cent on coal and 10 per cent on iron ore are protective duties, as Governor Kitchin contends, then the duty of 20 per cent on raw wool, 30 per cent on woolen yarns and blankets, 40 per cent on woolen clothes, flannels and knit fabrics, 45 per cent on ready-made clothing, 30 per cent on cotton cloths, underwear and clothes made of cotton goods, 54 per cent on knives, 35 per cent on cutlery, 31 per cent on chains, 40 per cent on kitchen utensils, carried in the Democratic tariff bills introduced by Leader Underwood in the House, and which have received the unanimous support of the Democrats of both bodies either during the special or the present session of Congress, are not only protective but excessively protective duties.

The truth is that the duties carried in the Democratic wool, cotton and metal schedules are revenue duties, as Mr. Underwood stated when he introduced the bills, but they are very much higher revenue duties than those on lumber, coal and iron ore which Mr. Kitchin criticises Senator Simmons for voting for.

The Democratic steel and iron bill, for which all the Democrats have voted provides an average duty of 38 per cent on cutlery, knives, razors, scissors, files, chains and kitchen utensils. Governor Kitchin does not criticise Senator Simmons or the other Democrats for voting for an average duty of 28 per cent on these manufactures or iron. He says that was Democratic, that that was a revenue duty; but he says when Senator Simmons voted for a duty of from eight to ten per cent on the raw materials out of which these manufactured products were made he was voting for a protective duty. This statement of fact reduces Governor Kitchin's argument to an absurdity.

Governor Kitchin also criticises Senator Simmons for voting for a 18 per cent duty on quebracho. He says that was a protective duty. This statemen is absurd in view of the fact that quebracho is a foreign product, not a pound of which is produced in this country, and every cent of duty imposed is collected and goes into the treasury.

Take the average of the duties carried on all the items in the Democratic wool, cotton and metal schedules, and it will be seen that this average is higher, almost two to one, than the duties voted for by Senator Simmons on lumber, coal, iron ore, quebracho and pineapples, while many items in those bills are probably three times as high as the average of the duties which Governor Kitchin criticises.

The conclusion, therefore, is irresistible that if the duties Governor Kitchin criticises are protective, the duties carried in these Democratic bills are two or three times more protective. So Governor Kitchin's attack upon Senator Simmons is a severe arraignment of the duties carried in the Democratic tariff bills now before Congress. We repeat, there is no foundation for this attack by Governor Kitchin. The duties carried in the Democratic bills are all revenue duties, but much higher revenue duties than the duties voted for by Senator Simmons.

Suppression of Record

Governor Kitchin still continues to charge that Senator Simmons voted 19 times against the Democratic majority on the reciprocity bill and tariff bills. He made this charge in his first speech. Senator Simmons challenged him to tell the people what these "19 votes" were. The Senator stated that one was against the reciprocity bill, and practically all the others were for amendments to that bill, either putting the things the farmer buys, such as cotton bagging and ties, wire fencing, agricultural implements, on the free list, or reducing the duty on things the farmer buys; and he called upon Governor Kitchin in criticising his votes upon these amendments, to specify what the substance of the amendments were. Governor Kitchin has never done this. He dare not do it; because if he were to oppose Senator Simmons for opposing putting what the farmers sell on the free list without putting what they buy on the free list also, he would lose the sympathy of the farmers.

In line with Governor Kitchin's suppression of the facts with reference to these votes, his campaign manager has issued a circular pretending to quote from Senate Document No. 275 as to these amendments. This document gives the substance of each of these amendments, but the circular omits that part, and simply refers to these votes by the page of the Congressional Record. This document also shows that in casting these votes Senator Simmons voted with the Insurgent Republicans and against the "standpat" protection Republicans led by Penrose, Smoot and Crane. The Kitchin circular omits that fact.

What was the purpose of these omissions? It is clearly to mislead the voter and create the impression that Senator Simmons was voting to increase tariff duties, whereas the document from which Governor Kitchin's manager quotes shows that every one of these votes of Mr. Simmons' was either to put the things the farmer buys on the free list or to reduce the duties on them.

It only remains to give the record facts as to some other misrepresentations of Governor Kitchin and his manager with reference to Senator Simmons' record.

Other Misrepresentations

The Governor says that the Senator favored protection on monozite sand and thorite. He does not claim that Senator Simmons voted for protection on these things. Senator Simmons has never voted for any protection on monozite sand and thorite. Now what are monozite and thorite? Who uses them? Who buys them? Does anybody in North Carolina buy these things for consumption? No. They are the raw material of one of the biggest trusts in this country—the General Electric Company. This trust uses these sands to make mantels for gas lights. Why is Governor Kitchin so anxious that the General Electric Company shall have its raw material free of duty? Nobody will be benefitted by taking the duty off of these sands except this trust, and in favoring a reduction upon these things Governor Kitchin is clearly speaking in behalf of this great trust.

Governor Kitchin says that Senator Simmons favored protection on cotton seed oil, and some of his ardent supporters are charging that Senator Simmons had a duty put on cotton seed oil, and that duty has increased the price of lard made of this product one cent a pound. Now, as a matter of fact, there is no duty on cotton seed oil; it is on the free list.

The duty on cotton seed oil under the Dingley Act was four cents per pound. When the Payne-Aldrich bill was under consideration in the Senate, when this item was reached Senator Aldrich stated that as cotton seed and cotton seed oil were Southern products he was willing to let it go on the free list if Southern Senators desired. That was in line with Aldrich's and New England's policy. They are perfectly willing for all Southern products to go on the free list just as long as they are allowed to keep their products on the protected list. Senator Simmons said he did not know so much about that. He did not exactly approve of putting Southern products on the free list while the products of other sections were kept on the protected list. He said he thought the duty on cotton seed oil should be reduced but he questioned whether it should go on the free list. However, he said he would not make any objection if his associates from the South were willing that it should go on the free list. So cotton seed oil was put on the free list, although Germany and France maintained a prohibitive tariff against our cotton seed oil.

Reciprocity

In this connection reference might be made to the fact that while the reciprocity bill, of which Governor Kitchin is such an ardent champion, puts farm products on the free list, it carries highly protective duties upon the manufactures of these products and upon manufactured products generally. It carries a protective duty of 60 cents a barrel on flour in the interest of the flour trust. It carries a protective duty of one and a quarter cents per pound on the products of the beef trust in the interest of that trust. It carries a protective duty of 20 per cent on all extracts of meat. It carries a protective duty of one and one-fourth cents per pound on lard, whether made of animal fat or cotton seed oil. It carries a protective duty of 40 per cent on tallow, all in the interest of the meat-packing trust. It carries a highly protective duty on plows, harrows, harvesters, mowers, threshing machines, etc., for the benefit of the Harvester Trust.

Senator Simmons tried to abolish all of these and other protective duties carried by this treaty by offering and by voting for amendments to put these things on the free list along with farm products so as to give the farmer an equal chance with these trusts so far as the tariff is concerned. Governor Kitchin is now going about the State arraigning Mr. Simmons for these votes, without telling what these votes were for, for these are the "19 votes" that he is criticising Mr. Simmons for casting.

Governor Kitchin is charging Senator Simmons with voting for protection because he opposed putting farm products on the free list in this bill. If his charge is true, then Governor Kitchin, in championing this reciprocity treaty, commits himself to the various protective duties which that bill carries not only upon the articles enumerated, but upon many other articles of household and farm use.

Other Suppressions

Again, Governor Kitchin charges that Senator Simmons voted to retain protection on building material, carpenter tools, etc. Senator Simmons did vote against Senator Johnston's (of Alabama) amendment to put lumber and certain other materials used in house construction on the free list. Senator Simmons voted against this amendment for two reasons: First, because it proposed to put lumber on the free list, and he had just voted against doing that; secondly, because Senator Johnston refused his request, made in the presence of Senator Overman, to add after the words "free lumber" the words "saw mill machinery, structural iron and steel," so as to put the things that enter into the cost of making lumber on the free list as well as lumber. Senator Simmons has always stated that he would vote to put lumber on the free list if the things that enter into the cost of its manufacture and in competition with it were also placed on the free list. Governor Kitchin knew this, and he knows further that his statement with regard to this is not fair and was misleading and inaccurate in that, as he knows, that ten days before, on May 14th, 1909 (Congressional Record, page 2,129), Senator Simmons voted to put on the free list all kinds and character of farming implements and tools, carpenters tools, blacksmith tools, as well as nails, hinges and screws.

Why does Governor Kitchin give part of the facts and suppress the other part? Why does he not treat the people, if not Senator Simmons, fairly, and not attempt to mislead them by suppressing part of the facts with reference to Senator Simmons' record and votes? Will the Democrats of the State stand for this?

Again, Governor Kitchin is reported as saying in his Statesville speech that Senator Simmons, as Democratic leader in charge of the tariff bills as passed by the House, accepted an amendmen placing a duty of 20 per cent on "machine tools" although these machines were on the free list in that bill (meaning the House bill), and that "only 7 Democrats voted for it, while 19 voted against it, and the amendment was adopted by Republican votes." Governor Kitchin's organ,

WEEK'S NEWS AT LUMBERTON

Fruit Prospect Good—Politics and Other News in Robeson—Better Hotel Facilities Needed—Personal and Other Items.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., July 20.—The weather for the past few days has been hot enough, we think, to satisfy those who kept crying for hot weather. While there has been frequent showers we have heard of very little complaint of too much rain, and the weather is ideal for all growing crops.

Fruit, however, has been damaged to some extent, and peaches especially are rotting badly, but even then there seems to be more than can be used. Some very fine peaches sold here this week for 60 cents per bushel. If this section has ever had a more abundant fruit and vegetable crop than it has this season, it was before our day. Watermelons are beginning to be plentiful and some fine specimens are being sold at reasonable prices.

Candidates just keep coming out, and there is no telling where the end will be so far as numbers go. The latest to announce his candidacy is Dr. W. A. McPhaul, who had cards in both local papers Thursday. No one could fail to see his card if they looked at the paper as just a half page is taken up. In addition to this the doctor has a well finished slide of himself which is being shown on the screen between the pictures at the picture show. Dr. McPhaul was in the last Legislature and has decided to go again. He knows the boys will put him there if he intimates that he would like to go. The State Senatorship is what promises to be interesting. We understand that Mr. Stacy, superintendent of the Rowland Graded school, who is a candidate for Senatorial honors, opened the campaign at Fairmont last Saturday. He is said to be a fine speaker and the way in which he lambasted the county administration was a caution. Messrs. Stacy and McLeod began a canvas of the county at Maxton yesterday morning, telling the people what they stand for. Mr. McNeill refuses to participate in the joint debate, but at a meeting held in East Lumberton Thursday night he made some few remarks. Mr. Howard Morrison and others are also reported as being present and made short talks.

Someone, we don't know who, started the report that Mr. Stacy was not a taxpayer in this county. We went to the Sheriff's office to investigate the matter and we were informed that Mr. Stacy had never paid any taxes in Robeson county. Although he has been teaching school in the county for two years he has been paying his poll tax in another county. At least we are reliably informed that he listed his poll tax in Orange county for the year 1911. The tax books show that he listed his poll in Robeson this year, 1912. Mr. Stacy certainly is too broad in his views to abuse the county administration as he is reported to be doing until he has been a citizen of the county long enough to pay his poll tax one time at least. If he does not consider himself citizen enough to pay taxes in the county how can he expect the taxpayers to send him to the State Senate?

One morning this week while talking with Jordon Prevatt who resides four miles from town in Wishart's township, he said that he seldom came to town more than once a year, and since his last visit there had been more improvement than he had ever seen here in the same length of time. During our conversation Messrs. Joe Prevatt and J. T. Bullard, both of Lumberton, approached and joined in the conversation. The question of ages was mentioned when it was brought out that one was 72, another 77, and the third was 84. Al three were veterans of the Civil War, after the close of which they walked home from Virginia. These old soldiers are still the picture of good health, though, of course, old age is beginning to show its signs, though two of them have few, if any gray hairs.

We do not believe the man lives who has a higher regard for ladies than we do, but when we run across a vicious wild cat dressed like a lady, shapping at everything and everybody she meets, then we think she should be put in a cage like other wild animals of the jungles. Such a creature blew into town Thursday night and left on the early train from Wilmington yesterday morning. Upon arrival here she proceeded to the Waverly Hotel where she is said to have read a few passages. She denounced the hotel as a gambling den, a horse stable, a box ball alley and everything she could think of but a hotel or church. At the station yesterday morning she declared there was more low down trash here than any place she ever saw. She simply abused everything and the balance of mankind. When her time came to get on the train, she started with a suit case in one hand and a large package of some kind in the other. As Conductor Beery attempted to assist her up the steps she squealed out to him: "Keep your hands off, don't you touch me." What her business is no one knows nor cares, but she looked old enough to have been here before the war. While so many laws are being made regulating railroad some laws should b enacted relieving them from hauling such characters as that. If we believed in the devil appearing so he could really be seen we would be inclined to the opinion that the visitor was the devil dressed like a woman.

It's hard to swallow, but we can't help it. The way Lumberton is suffering on account of its hotel facilities is enough to make a man sick to think of it. We heard a gentleman who visits here occasionally say a few days ago that he liked to come to Lumberton, but that it had not had a hotel in 25 years and he came only when obliged to and left as quickly as possible. There has been a whole lot of hot air escaping here about a new hotel, but if any relief is near we don't know which way to look for it, and the town must keep on suffering on account of hotel accommodations. The hotel people here are clever enough all right,no one will deny that,but they have nothing to do with. Lumberton is losing money every day on account of its inadequate hotel accommodations. A traveling man is seldom seen here on Sunday.

Our remarks last Sunday in regard to the condition of affairs in the Norment cemetery caused some light to be turned on. A gentleman residing in that vicinity says the mischief is done in the cemetery by a bunch of children, who in charge of white nurses spend much of their time in the cemetery. He says that only a few days ago a tea party was given on the McMillan square, the grave of the late Dr. McMillan being one of those desecrated. The parents of these children do not know where they are spending their time, and while the children are not old enough to know any better it does seem that a nurse who is intelligent enough to be put in charge of children, would know better than to allow such things. Whoever heard of turning a cemetery into a playground?

Mr. G. P. Jones, formerly of Fairmont, but now residing in Lumberton, and Dr. A. C. Tebeau, have started a new business here under the name of "The Specialty Sales Co." and are agents for Robeson county for "Voltite" and other specialties. Voltite is a preparation which enables anyone to do any kind of plating, such as gold, silver, nickle, etc., and is something new on the market here. The preparation is highly endorsed by many scientists and scientific journals and the agents say they will be glad to demonstrate it to anyone interested.

During the past two days we have heard three different traveling men say that the condition of the old cemetery near the Seaboard passenger station would be a disgrace to any town of much less importance than Lumberton. They said it would be a fine place to run foxes if it was not so dangerous about snakes. We do not pretend to say who is responsible for the appearance of the old cemetery, but it certainly does look bad.

It now seems to be a settled fact that the Lumberton tobacco warehouses will not be open this season, this being the second year they are closed. They are beginning to need repairs, but are now in the fire limit and cannot be repaired without special permission, which might be hard to obtain. Many people would like to see them removed and replaced with brick buildings which would not be eye sores.

It was with sincere regret that we read this week of the death of Capt. Oscar Grant, in Wilmington. Back in the '80s, Capt. Grant was a conductor on the Seaboard and was a great favorite with all who knew him. The last time we were in Wilmington we had the pleasure of a long chat with him and made a date to go on a fishing trip together, but we were prevented from keeping the engagement. A bigger hearted man or truer friend never lived than Oscar Grant.

Mr. W. W. Carlyle and family, who have been spending some time at Wrightsville Beach, returned home Thursday.——Mr. and Mrs. R. M. N. Stephens are spending several days at the beach.——Miss Claudia Davis left yesterday for Goldsboro to visit relatives.——Mesdames M. Beverly and Wm. Dougherty, together with their children, left for the mountains Thursday.

Messrs. T. J. Pratt and Ed Penny, of Wilmington, were Lumberton visitors this week.

Capt. Dave Everett, who for many years was one of the best known and most popular conductors on the old Carolina Central, passed through here Thursday on his way to the beach.

A few days ago a crate of cantaloupes was received by express from a Lumberton lady. As soon as possible after the arrival of the express was sent on its regular delivery trip and among other articles delivered in town was the cantaloupes. Soon after the delivery Mr. Thomas, the clever and obliging agent, was called up over the 'phone by the lady who informed him that the cantaloupes were so green she could not eat them and wanted to know what he was going to do about it. We left before he replied.

Visitors to the picture show last night were given a real treat in the way of delightful music, both vocal and instrumental. When Carlyle, Lennon, Skipper, Parmele, Stephens and Meech can't make music no other musicians of the same number need try. The picture show has just received a lot of new music for the pianola which will be used Monday night for the first time. Several numbers of sacred music have also been received and these will be played as the occasion may require. Nothing too good can be procured for patrons of the picture show.

The paving business is spreading all over town, and at the rate it is going now it won't be long until most of the sidewalks in town will be paved. We've got the town and our people are beginning to run races to see who can do the most to make it better. Let the good work go on.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Porter, who have been spending some time visiting relatives in this section, will leave Monday on the return trip to their home in Texas. Mr. Porter told us yesterday that he purchased round trip tickets from Waco to Wrightsville Beach, good for five months for $46.60. The regular fare from this section to Waco is between $35 and $40. People are learning of Wrightsville from one side to the other.

Last Monday an afternoon paper published within 50 miles of Lumberton printed an account of a terrible calamity which had occurred in Mexico on that day, where as the result of a cloudburst 5,000 people and millions of dollars worth of property had been destroyed. Tuesday morning we scanned the columns of three morning papers for a fuller account of the awful catastrophe, but there was nothing doing. What puzzles us is how one little afternoon sheet could get such news as that and all the morning papers get left.

Next week is to be one of picnics in this county. The Farmers' Union will have one at Ten Mile on Thursday, the Farmers' Union and Woodmen will have one at Center on the same day. The third picnic for that day will be given at Purvis. Rev. J. W. Bradley, pastor of the Lumberton Methodist church, will be the speaker at Purvis. Possibly the largest crowd of the week will be at the Indian picnic at Union Chapel on Saturday. Hon. J. A. Brown will be the speaker of the day. Messrs. G. B. McLeod and Hamilton McMillan have also been invited and are expected to be present and make speeches. The Star man has also been invited, but not as a speaker. If possible, he will be there. Where Calvin Lowrey, Jim Dial and others we could name are masters of ceremonies, visitors will be taken care of.

The Lumberton print shops have been having some trouble this week on account of sickness, each of the three offices having had a man out. Printers at one time were plentiful, but they are as scarce and hard to find these days as gold dollars.

Eighty tickets were sold here for the Johnson City excursion Tuesday. Lumberton people can be depended on to go on excursions.

Mr. George B. McLeod, who is now canvassing the county as a candidate for State Senator, has had his platform printed in pamphlet form for distribution among the voters. Among other things he favors paying witnesses who have to attend court same as jurors are paid. He advocates giving justices of the peace more jurisdiction or establishing a recorder's court, thereby saving the tax payers several thousand dollars annually in the way of jail fees, court costs, etc. He does not believe in changing school books so often, not more than once in ten years, at most. He claims that would be a great saving as the frequent changing of books necessitates the purchase of so many new books. He favors the adoption of such road laws as the voters shall decide in mass meeting. He opposes any further division of the county, is in favor of increasing the pensions for old soldiers and believes in all officers who draw their pay from the county being elected by the people.

In reply to an inquiry as to general health conditions of the county, Superintendent of Health Page says they are good, there being more chills and fever than anything else. Dr. Page says there are very few cases of typhoid, but in some sections there are many cases of chills. There has been recently more chills and fever in this section than for many years.

The North Carolina Firemen's Tournament will be held in Fayetteville Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Fare for the round trip from Lumberton will be $1.35, good returning until the 26th. This is the best opportunity many of our people have ever had to attend one of these tournaments and everyone who can should attend. It is worth the time and the little cost many times over.

Little Guy Garrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Garrell, gave us one day this week a cluster of tomatoes, eight on the bunch, weighing five pounds. It was just like a bunch of grapes, except, of course, the fruit was much larger. Guy is a chip off the old block, he believes in growing good things to eat. He has a small garden patch of his own in which he takes great pride growing fine stuff.

There was considerable excitement in the down town section this morning about 6:30 when the town dog killer opened up his artillery on a poor little dog which did not happen to carry a flag of truce. The owner of the dog had changed residences during the week, but doggie preferred the old home to the new one and it was while he was trying to get back to the old place that he was discovered by the officer. The gunner was out of practice or something was wrong as he couldn't hit the dog. We older boys were reminded of the fall of the forts below Wilmington back in the '60s.

When Capt. Cullen Jones gets ready to run his excursion to Johnson City next year short notice will get business in this section. When the excursion returned last night it was learned that three or four colored excursionists decided to run over to Bristol while at Johnson City and happened to get scratched in a wreck, for which they received sums in cash ranging from $10 to $150. We suspect some of the old Taft Special passengers are bowed down in grief because they did not happen to be there.

Mrs. J. P. Russell and sons, Mr. J. M. and Master Henry, left this morning for Kingstree, S. C., to visit relatives.

We know it is only necessary to call the attention of the authorities to the condition of Seventh street from Elk to the Baptist church. It is almost grown up in weeds and is one of the main streets leading to the Baptist and Methodist churches.

Sunday, July 21, 1912.

A lot of men never heard of Seagirt but by the time it got on the may they had already taken the right trail.

The county which waits for Federal aid to good roads will wait a long time and continue to have bad roads.

Many a Democrat has scratched his ticket because a Republican managed to get on it though the fault of a convention.

When a candidate runs for an office he ought to furnish the people a reason. However, most of them only tender excuses.

The Georgia peach crop sold for $4,000,000 this season, but the Georgia peaches who come to Wrightsville Beach are worth ten times that sum.

The man who subscribes to the Democratic campaign fund will have to do it as a patriot. He certainly cannot hope to get repaid in any special privilege.

The new Senator from Nevada is very wealthy, says the New Orleans States. Of course, he could afford to go into politics and get him a seat in the Senate.

A protective tariff is a fetish with Republicans, but it is a cinch for its beneficiaries. The fetish crowd gets it in the neck but the cinch crowd gets it by the millions.

Come to think of it. Mr. Kitchin may want to shut out those who call themselves National Republicans and State Democrats. And there are quite a few of them.—Durham Herald.

George B. Cortelyou testified the other day that no trust was permitted to subscribe to the Republican campaign fund in 1908. Of course, it was wrong for them to do so, when all the plutocrats interested in them could hand out the long green on their own account.

The Republican idea of the tariff is that it will make manufacturers profits so large that they can slip good wages into the pay envelope of the working men. It turns out, however, that Big Business smiles and "cuts melons," while the working men cut up Old Harry by striking for a small raise.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad has awarded a contract for modern coal piers at Newport News, Va. They will be constructed by the Pennsylvania Steel Company and the Virginia Bridge and Iron Company. When shall we hear of the construction of a coal pier at Southport, the logical coaling port for the world's ships engaged in the Panama canal trade?

The only kind of Democrat who should expect to vote in the Senatorial primary is one who voted for Democratic candidates in the last election, or who will do so in the November election. All other men ought to know they haven't got a right to vote in a strictly Democratic primary. All who want to vote for Simmons, Kitchin or Clark should qualify themselves by voting the National, State and county tickets on the 5th of November.

Tariff reform means not only reducing it, but in so levying the duties that one State will not have to pay more than its share of tariff taxes, while some other State gets more benefit than it has to pay in tax. Darn the tariff, but when one is levied it ought to be done so as to bring about an equitable distribution of the tax burden which it inflicts. The people want the tariff reduced all right, but they want it done by men who know how to secure relief form it instead of votes.

JUST NORTH CAROLINIANS.

We confess to pride when we see North Carolinians doing things and receiving honors. Even when a North Carolinian goes to another State and becomes eminent there is some sense of pride over it although it might be natives like Speaker Cannon or Senator Dixon who won their fame out West as Republicans. Thus it must be gratifying to all North Carolinians, Democrats, other kinds of Democrats, and Republicans, to observe how North Carolina is daily appearing in the National limelight. The Charlotte Observer, noting how Senator Simmons has leaped into prominence, remarks:

"It is a pretty rank sort of a partisan who would withhold from Senator Simmons the credit for having brought the Republicans to terms in a vote on the tariff bills. An agreement was forced to take a vote on July 25, 26 and 27, respectively, on the wool bill and amendments, on the income tax and on the sugar bill. This was brought about through the instrumentality of the filibuster."

We hardly think any broad minded North Carolinian would begrudge the achievements and distinction of Senator Simmons. Of course, he is Senate leader by virtue of seniority, owing to his long service in the Senate, but that is the smallest part of it. Had not the Senator been equipped with the necessary ability and experience his seniority would not have carried him very far. However, the North Carolina Senator has not only displayed to North Carolinians, but to Americans that the Senator is so equipped as to capability and experience in parliamentary forays that he can make a brilliant fight and win against a Republican majority.

The Tar Heel Senator certainly is on the job, and he not only has not humiliated North Carolina by falling down, but has challenged admiration and plaudits from friends and foes all over the State and Nation. Republican and Northern papers have taken notice of the Senator's alertness as a floor leader and his keenness and preparedness to match himself against an able and strong Senate majority. None but a Senator with training, information, and aggressiveness could put up the fight that Simmons has and score so splendidly that he is reflecting great honor on North Carolina. Of course, there are other North Carolinians who can do the same thing when the opportunity brings them face to face with situations that make them conspicuous National figures.

This reference to Senator Simmons on our part has nothing in the world to do with the Senatorial campaign now on in this State. We would say the same thing for any North Carolina Senator in an off year, or at any time when his achievements were so notable. It gratifies us to see North Carolinians attracting National attention, and for the same reason we take pleasure in paying deserved tribute to Senator Simmons, we are impelled to note with keen satisfaction that Editor Josephus Daniels, of the Raleigh News and Observer, and those other North Carolinans, E. E. Britton, Tom Pence and Walker Vick, are taking such a conspicuous part in the National campaign. These men have not reached these positions by chance, but by native ability and forcefulness.

Editor Daniels is one of Woodrow Wilson's "Big Nine", whose pictures are to be seen in the entire press of America. Mr. Daniels is one of the 14 prominent Democrats who have been personally selected by Nominee Wilson as his special campaign committee, which has supreme charge of the Democracy's fight to elect a President. Mr. Daniels is not only a man of extraordinary ability, but he is both adroit and aggressive as a fighter. He knows his lines and whenever he does undertake a task it gets the best of his shop till the job is completed.

There is Ed Britton, now National Democratic secretary, and Tom Pence, chief of Wilson's publicity campaign, both Raleigh newspaper men who bring the best of qualifications to a work that is National in its scope. Then there is Wilmington's own Walker Whiting Vick, who has been made assistant national chairman. Walker is also a newspaper man and he is high up now because he had it in him to get there.

NOT THE THIRD PARTY.

Col. Roosevelt's party is not the Third party, as has been erroneously supposed. Considering the fact that there is now a split among the Georgia progressives on the color lines, the Atlanta Journal observes that "there is nothing left for the Colonel to do but form a fourth party."

Well, he cannot do that. The Socialists and Prohibition parties are ahead of him. It is hard for any of us to keep up with the parties, and for that reason it would be a good idea to follow the suggestion of the Washington (Pa.) Observer, that it would be a good thing for every American citizen, and especially for American youth, to read the history and records of the different political parties which have played a part in the politics of this country since its foundation by those great Democrats headed by George Washington.

While the Democratic party and the Republican party have been the principle parties since 1856, a period of 56 years, and have furnished most of the votes in the Electoral College, in the election of a President, this country really has had many political parties, some of which have polled a large vote for President. We hear little today of the "Knownothing party", which was opposed to foreigners and immigration in the main, yet that party's candidate for President had a large vote in the Electoral College in one Presidential year. It also carried a large number of States by the election of State and county tickets. History really records that more than two parties, at different times in the country's history, have played quite an important part in the results of Presidential campaigns. Even Lincoln, who had a majority of the electoral vote when he was elected in 1860, at his first election, did not have a majority of the popular vote. That was because there were three candidates in the field.

However, since 1872, when the Greely campaign occurred, there has been only one party, outside the Republican and Democratic parties, which polled any electoral votes. That was the People's or Populist party, which had 22 electors in the election of 1902, and again showed up with 27 electors in 1896. For forty years no other party has had sufficient strength to make a showing in the Electoral College.

In the seventies, the Greenbackers made a strong showing, but as a party it had no vote in the Electoral College. A number of Western and a few Northern States elected Greenbackers to Congress. In North Carolina, the late Governor Daniel L. Russell was elected as a Greenbacker from this district, having defeated the late Hon. Alfred Moore Waddell, Democrat.

Col. Rosevelt proposes to organize a party at Chicago two weeks from tomorrow, and if the Colonel should be placed in the field as a candidate, it would not be at all surprising to see his party have quite a large number of votes in the Electoral College. Such a party, however, cannot be legally ranked on the ballot as the Third Party, for four years ago, when Taft was elected, there were seven other parties on the ballot, all of which parties will take precedence over the new party.

The Roosevelt party probably will be the eighth party. In 1908 the parties were Republican, Democratic, Socialist, Prohibition, Populist, Independent and Socialist-Labor. For many years the Prohibition party was designated as the third party, but the last Presidential election gave that place to the Socialist party, the Prohibitionists having taken the fourth place because the Socialists cast the most votes.

MELON AND CANTALOUPE INDUSTRY.

The growth of the trucking, berry growing, and melon producing industries in eastern North Carolina has had a wonderful effect in developing the lands of the country and bringing about increased transportation facilities. It has also been the result of the establishment of numerous crate factories, ice factories, etc. Right now the watermelon and cantaloupe industry is in full swing in the counties just above us, and the following from Tuesday's Fayetteville Observer gives some idea of the extent of the industry:

"The Fayetteville Ice & Manufacturing Company have been doing, and will continue to do until the close of the season, a very heavy business in icing cantaloupe cars. They ice all the cars taken this side of Florence, on the Atlantic Coast Line, including the Chadbourn and all other branch lines, to some distance north of this city. They have done more than twice the business this year of any previous year, and it is said that an average of 75 cars a day is a conservative estimate. Their rates and service seem to be giving good satisfaction. This morning we saw a car on the A. C. L. tracks being loaded for shipment with fine watermelons from the Purdue-Marsh farm in Seventy-First township. The melons were grown by Rev. C. T. Simmons, colored, manager of the farm. Twelve Hundred melons is, we believe, the average carload."

The above is interesting for two reasons. It shows the wonderful capabilities of this section of North Carolina, and it shows that an industrious negro's chances here as better than anywhere else.

Let candidates explain their own position and it might help them to get some other candidate's situation.

CURRENT COMMENT.

If the Republican campaign committee refused a check for $20,000 tendered by Dupont it evidently had enough without it.—Durham Herald.

Here's a pointer for candidates: Dr. A. W. McPhaul, member of the last Legislature from Robeson, has bought a half page of space in the Robesonian, and in it he tells what he did, what he tried to do, and why he wants to go back again. That is a clean method and is manly.—Greensboro News.

The relatives of John Armstrong Chaloner being persons of great wealth, his disposition to devise his fortune of a million and a half to colleges and universities in the South does not indicate lunacy. Indeed, it seems that a man of sense would scarcely discover a better way of bestowing his money, but we suppose that it will be interpreted by interested persons as another evidence of eccentricity. There are people in the world who think that philanthropy is itself a symptom of a week mind.—Columbia State.

IS IT WORTH WHILE?

In every community good people predominate. By "good people" is meant not only those who are inherently opposed to wickedness and vice of all sorts, but also those who would prefer that law-breaking should be punished and who if the issue was put squarely up to them would lend their influences to establish and maintain conditions of law, order and civic righteousness.

There is also always present in every community another element which numbers in its ranks those who condone conditions which work for harm to society, as well as those who directly profit by traffic in questionable and illegal ventures — law-breakers, pure and simple.

The great difficulty in a community where the latter element has been permitted to flourish and obtain a foothold is to so arouse and interest a sufficient number of those indifferent "good people" so that they will take the trouble to inform themselves of conditions surrounding them. You can then usually rely upon them to act.

Are conditions in our city such as we should be satisfied with them and is it worth while to attempt to arouse the people to the necessity for a change?

You indifferent men, listen to the record of a few concrete cases out of hundreds which could be cited:

A young man has become a valued employe of one of our largest merchants. He is trusted with the keys of the establishment and is on the rapid road to advancement and is steadily gaining the confidence of his employers. A gambling establishment is opened within a block of his place of business. He naturally hears about it and is persuaded to visit it, and in a short time is regularly losing his money. His employer soon learns about these visits and although he has no reason to believe that any of his own money has wrongfully been taken to use in the place he decides that it will not do to continue the young man in his position of trust. The keys of the store are taken from him, he is reduced to an inferior station and finally seeks employment elsewhere. Unless all reports are false this same gambling den exists today. Is it worth while to try to put it out of business? Would it be worth while to endeavor to have closed an open cesspool of human filth so near to you as to jeopardize the health of your entire family?

Another young man is a salesman in a wholesale establishment on the wharf. He is inveigled into paying a visit to one of the wide-open bawdy houses. He keeps up his visits and finally is caught selling goods and making no return of the sales and using the money to support the women who have gotten him within their clutches. He is discharged, goes from bad to worse and finally when a demand is made by him on his mother for a large sum of money with which to continue his lewd life, and it is refused, shoots both himself and his mother (his own wound being fatal) and dies the death of a disgraced son and leaves a heart-broken mother.

To the plea for help to suppress or drive these dens of vice farther from the sight of our women and children, is it any answer to say (as we so often hear) that they must exist somewhere and we might as well let them alone?

An official tells of a recent visit to him of a good woman. She told him what a good husband she had. That he was an engineer receiving $125 a month. Recently, she said, he had commenced frequenting a certain notorious blind tiger (mentioning the place) and for several months had spent all his money there and was not only bringing want to his family but was making a brute of himself. This lady was a neighbor and friend of the wife of the owner of the blind tiger and quite often they visited each other. Of these visits the blind tigress (if we may call her such) would exhibit handsome presents which her husband had given her—a diamond ring, a valuable piano, an extremely handsome set of mahogany furniture, and would often say how prosperous her husband's business was. "And O, my God!" Mr.—, said this lady, "to think that I know my husband's salary is helping to buy all these things while I and our three children are almost forced to ask for charity. In the name of Heaven cannot something be done to help me?"

The evidence in the case was that the man could be saved if temptation was removed from him. Can you remain indifferent and leave it to a few to work to bring help to this pitiful woman and her three children?

The use of a certain line of automobiles to take men and boys to the red light district is well-known. Several of the houses in this district are the property of the owner of these automobiles. Night is made hideous to the respectable citizens of that neighborhood by the brazen and intolerable flaunting of the ghastly business before the faces of entire families by the ceaseless trips of these vehicles from the center of the city to these sink holes of vice. It is said that they have a regular code of signals on their automobile horns to announce to their prospective patrons that they are bound for certain houses. They are also used for other purposes just as bad or worse. Not many nights past two young girls, apparently not over 14 or 15 years of age, possibly down town to attend a moving picture show, were enticed into one of these machines for a ride. Suspecting something wrong they were followed by an officer and after a short ride the automobile was stopped at an innocent-looking house and the group entered. Upon investigation afterwards it was learned that the place was an assignation house kept by a negro woman.

Are you willing to draw close around you the mantle of your own indifference and do nothing to bring such things as this to an end?

The wife of a man who had sunk so low as to become a regular habitue of one of the houses in the red light district recently came to an official and asked him "In God's name, Mr.—, is there not some way I can make these women let my husband alone?" And she went on to tell him that on a certain night he had left home with $500 in his pockets. She learned he had gone to a notorius house and wrapping a revolver in a small shawl she followed him and insisted upon his coming out of the house to speak to her. When he came there was only $40 left of the $300. By some means she got face to face with the woman and unwrapping the revolver demanded the return of the money and by threats secured the greater part of it.

Such cases as these could be endlessly multiplied, and we ask you, our indifferent good citizen what are you going to do about it? It may not have been brought very close home to you as yet, but can you and yours hope to escape all contamination if such things continue? Take the trouble to bring it home to yourself in imagination. Suppose your boy or some young girl in whom you were interested had become smirched with the reeking putridity of these foul conditions, how long would it take you to get busy? Do you recognize no obligation to your neighbors and friends? "No man can live a selfish life and be happy. No man can live a selfish life and escape injury to some other life." You may not yet have had the awful, crushing experience of one of your own blood having fallen, but these same young men around you are the ones who come into your homes and are to be the husbands of your daughters. Habits contracted in the atmosphere of blind tigers and gambling dens and bawdy houses are not conducive to establishing characters which go to make such men as most people care to admit to the sanctuary of their homes.

These are no pipe dreams. The evidence to any one who takes the trouble to investigate is too overwhelming to leave room for reasonable doubt. The good government forces are seriously engaged in an effort to strangle some of these monsters of evil. Are you with them or against them? There should be no middle ground.

It is no slight task we have undertaken. With a record of a deputy sheriff who comes even into the presence of our highest court of justice loaded with blind tiger whiskey, of justices who do not hesitate to admit their patronage of unlawful dens of whiskey selling, of a higher justice who has long ago been convicted in the minds of the entire public of flagrant participation in the spoils of law breakers, of a drunken magistrate himself thrown headlong in the street from a notorious joint and, so badly injured that for a time his life is despaired of, what hope is there unless we bestir ourselves and make a supreme effort to destroy these hatching places of a pestilence which are far worse than the filthy, disease-breeding spot which threaten our physical vigor.

HEAT ENDANGERS LIVES OF ELDERLY FOLKS

Sickness and Misery Follow Inattention to the Minor Ills

Older people should be especially careful of their health during the hot months, as high temperature has a peculiarly enervating effect that tends ti disarrange the entire digestive system. The slightest indiscretion in diet is almost sure to be followed by bowel trouble and indigestion, but if care is taken to keep the bowels open by using a gentle laxative stimulant at the first sign of any irregularity, a great deal of the misery and distress can be avoided.

Strong, harsh and drastic physics should be avoided because of the shock to the system following their use. An excellent laxative, and one that is easy and natural in its effect on the stomach, bowels and liver, is found in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a compound of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is pleasant to the taste and positive in its action. By cleansing the bowel tract and removing the foreign matter that irritates and inflames the tissue, a dose of Syrup Pepsin will quickly check the Summer diarrhoea that is so prevalent. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle; large, family size, one dollar. A free trial bottle will be sent, postpaid, if you will write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 406 Washington street, Monticello, Illinois.

PURCHASES BUILDING SITE.

Mr. E. L. Mathews Closed Deal Yesterday for Peschau Property.

Mr. E. L. Mathews, president of the E. L. Mathews Candy Company and the North State Candy Company, yesterday purchased from Mrs. Johanna Peschau about a half block known as the Peschau property, on Hanover street, between Front and Second, for a consideration in the neighborhood of $10,000, Mr. F. A. Lord engineered the transaction. The site was purchased with the idea of building a suitable home for the two industries.

The E. L. Mathews Candy Company and the North State Candy Company are different concerns, but are operated under the same management. The North State Company manufactures solely for the jobbing trade, while the E. L. Mathews Company does a wholesale business. Both businesses have witnessed a steady growth and they are now, or soon will be, in need of new quarters. It was for this purpose that the Peschau property will be used.

Mr. Mathews stated last night that the two companies would probably continue to use their present buildings until next Spring, or perhaps the early Fall of 1913. He stated that Mr. H. E. Bonitz, the architect, is preparing plans for the new building, which is to be of three stories, brick, and modern construction throughout, especially designed for the candy business. The building will cost about $15,000, making a total outlay of about $25,000 for site and building.

It is said that several wholesale houses are considering locating in the section in which the candy companies' building will be located.

Clothes Will Be Higher in 1912—Prices Will Be Advanced.

New York, July 19.—The price of clothes is going to be advanced next year. This increased tax on the already high cost of living is clearly indicated, merchants say, by the prices named by leading producers of cloth, who have lifted the prices for the Spring of 1913 season from 7 1-2 to 20 cents a yard above those which prevailed last year when the values for the past Spring season were announced.

How much the merchant tailor or the retail clothier will charge the consumer because of the advances that have taken place can not be stated accurately because there is every likelihood that the quotations just made will be further advanced before the season is very old.

Cloth prices are higher for the next Spring season, agents say, because of conditions over which the manufacturers have no control. They say that the most important element that brought about the advance is that the domestic wool clip this year is about 30,000,000 pounds smaller than a year ago. The price of wool has also gone up abroad, while mill owners say that the high scale of wages and the shorter working hours will also have their effect on the increased price of cloth.

From the above you will note that now is the time to take advantage of my made-to-order Special Sale. This sale will close in the next ten days, so do not miss this last opportunity of giving me your order prior to the rise in prices of 1913. My low price of $13.50 for two-piece suit from Domestic patterns and $19.00 per two-piece suit from imported patterns will prevail for only ten days longer.

Respectfully,
I. SHRIER.

SENIOR COMPANIES IN CAMP

Camp Wilson Again Populated by the Boys' Brigade Troops—Gossip of the Tented Streets—General Order No. 1, Issued.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Camp Wilson, Southport, N. C., July 20.—The 16th annual encampment of the Boys' Brigade was opened here yesterday, extending throughout the 27th. This camp, as per custom established early in the history of this organization, adopted a name significant of some great event or person, this year honoring itself by the selection of the name of the honored candidate for the Presidency on the ticket of the great Democratic party, Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey.

The encampment is composed of members of companies A and B. It is greatly regretted that the honored and well loved commander, Col. Walker Taylor, because of important engagements, is unable to be present on the opening day. He will come down tomorrow. During his enforced absence the camp is under the command of Mr. Chas. Dushan, assisted by Capts. Wilbur Dosher and Simon Branch. Mr. James Price is again commissary sergeant. Lieut. Chas. Davis, the best swimmer in the Brigade, is captain of the swimming squad, Mr. Hiram King has been appointed first lieutenant and adjutant.

General Order No. 1.—Reveille 6:30 A. M.; morning drill, 6:45 A. M.; mess call, 7:30 A. M.; guard mount, 8:00 A. M.; religious exercises, 8:15 A. M.; mess call, 1:00 P. M.; retreat, 6:10 P. M.; mess call, 6:30 P. M.; tattoo, 10:00 P. M.; taps, 10:30 P. M.

Officer of the day, Lieut. Cameron; corporal of guard, Corp. Applewhite; privates, Register and Page.

By order of MAJ. DUSHAN.

The boys arrived in camp about 12 M., and after a good deal of persuasion on the part of the commander they finally got all of the luggage from the steamer and had dinner. "Jobby" was prepared for the boys and all had a fine dinner. After the guard was detailed, camp was cleaned up and the company street no longer looked like a trash pile. Happy Ned, of the guard, is a fine street cleaner. We will recommend him to the city council when we return, and maybe we can get him a position keeping the paper picked up on our beautiful new streets.

All of the boys are in for a good time, and if the girls show up all the time like they did the first night, they will have the time of their lives. Southport girls are always good to the Brigade boys.

Under the supervision of Mr. Chas. Davis, all of the boys had some fine sport in the water. Most of the boys are like ducks in the water and it can not get too deep for them.

Although camp was opened up with less than 40 men, there are several heart breakers among the Company B boys. (Shim Mac) el, John McCartney, primped all day and succeeded in finding him a Jane in the evening. The sprinkle of rain dampened the seats on the garrison, but what did they care. Shim had a satisfied grin on his face when he returned. Shim didn't sleep much all night. He was so jubilant that he kept most all of the boys awake. In fact, he was in such fine spirits that several tents fell to the ground under his hands and they say a bottle of ink turned over in someone's face. Shame on you, Shim, to let a little thing like a girl run you crazy like this.

These Southport heart breakers have some strange influence over these boys. Even little Kenneth Davis, who is always going to get him a girl, and when the time arrives, loses his nerve, braced up and had a little queen out last night. Go to it, Keneth, old boy, but don't let her get your heart too soon. You know it costs a lot to feed two mouths now.

Happy Ned is on the job. Happy is lazy in the extreme. Happy is the boy who always has a brightsmile. He is some baseball player, too, and when we get up against Southport he will make some of those already sore boys want to climb up his back. Company C put it over them two out of three, and Happy Ned thinks his team will do something like five out of three. He has some imagination.

Jim Applewhite, as all who know him, has gone plumb crazy over dancing, and he can be seen almost any time doing the turkey trot and several other dances all over the garrison. Jim is some dancer, but it looks like he could forget it a little while. Poor Jim had to do guard duty last night and could not go out on the garrison and get him a girl.

The fishing squad came down in advance of the companies and some fine fish were on hand for us when we arrived. Stewed trout and fried pig fish were prominent at the table last night. The fish are biting fine and those who love fishing will have some fine sport while here.

Although the colonel could not get down on time, the boys are behaving in a manner that they all will be proud of when our commander comes down.

Mr. Chas. Loughlin, who could not come down on the steamer, arrived via the W. B. & S. R. R., and reported a fine trip. The train came in only one hour late. Messrs. Frank King and George Bornemann arrived on the same train.

The fishing crew, composed of the Old Reliables, including our friend, Dr. Nutt, are out this morning and we are looking for some fine fish for supper tonight.

Miss Langston Dead.

It was with deep regret that friends in this city learned yesterday of the death of Miss Sophronia Langston, daughter of Rev. G. D. Langston, of Goldsboro. According to advices received here yesterday Miss Langston passed away at the home of her father Friday night. Rev. Mr. Langston was formerly pastor of Bladen Street Methodist church here and his family resided in Wilmington at the time. They also made Southport their home for a while. Miss Langston is well remembered in both places and her many friends will tenderly sympathize with the bereaved family.

NEW REALTY DEVELOPMENT

Eastern Portion of City Being Improved and Will be Placed on the Market by the Wright Real Estate Agency

Wilmington's real estate dealers have selected attractive and beautiful names for the various properties developed by them, such as Carolina Heights, Winter Park Gardens, etc., but now comes a proposition from Wright's Real Estate Agency to pay $5 in gold to the first person who suggests in writing an appropriate name for that large section of Wilmington lying east of 11th street and between Market and Rankin streets.

From time to time mention has been made of the activity in this section and the marked improvement being made. Mountains of sand have been moved by double team mule scoops and carts from hills to valleys. Sinks and hollows have been filled in, sinks graded and sidewalks laid out.

This work was begun last November and has continued uninterruptedly since that time, and is the largest and most costly development of unimproved real estate ever made in Wilmington.

Fifteenth street, from Market to Rankin, is now a beautiful, well-graded, modern Tarvia street, such as Fifth street. Granolithic sidewalks are being laid and trees and shrubs will follow as soon as weather conditions will permit.

That the owners of this property have unbounded faith in the growth and development of Wilmington is evident, and it has been predicted that before this time next year many handsome residences will be erected here.

This property before being taken over by the present owners, belonged to the heirs of the late Robert E. Macomber, none of whom live in Wilmington. It has been in this family since long before the Civil War and was in a wild and uninhabitable state. The improvement above mentioned fills in the gap between Carolina Heights and 11th street and will add many desirable and well-located home sites for Wilmington's rapidly growing population.

THE RECORDER'S COURT

Negro Sent to Road—Heavy Fine for Wife-Beater

In the Recorder's court yesterday morning Jason Capehart, colored, was found guilty on a charge of disposing of mortgaged property and was sentenced to three months on the county roads. From the evidence it seems that one J. R. Coel had a mortgage on the coat of Jason's gabardine and that Jason, regardless of this, disposed of said coat when he felt himself in the need of some pocket change.

John C. McLamb, a white man, was found guilty of an assault on a female, his wife, and was fined $50 and costs. The man and his wife quarelled over domestic matters and he is said to have proceeded to assault her. She is rather frail and weakly and the court imposed a heavy sentence.

W. E. Whilden, also white, was tried on a charge of an assault on a female, his wife. The case was left open until Tuesday, when he will be tried on additional charge of non-support.

William Rackley, colored, was found guilty of an assault with a deadly weapon on D. T. Turley, white, and was fined $25 and costs. Three other cases against the negro, charging him with assault with a deadly weapon, carrying a concealed weapon and firing a pistol in the city limits, were nol prossed, the State lacking sufficient evidence to make out the cases.

Capias for Raynor

A capias has been received here for Geo. Raynor, the young white man who has been in jail for some days on a charge of illicit distilling, charging him with a similar offense alleged to have been committed in Cumberland county. The capias came from the United States Court at Raleigh. United States Commissioner Geo. Harriss stated yesterday afternoon that it is possible that the case against Raynor here may be allowed to go over, in order that the other may have precedence. However, it is understood that the revenue officers are still working on the matter and it is likely that the disposition of the case will depend to some extent upon their findings. Raynor is still in jail, having been committed there in default of $1,000 bond. It would be useless for him to raise the money now, as under the capias no bond would be allowed.

Car of L. & N. Attached

Under authority of proceedings instituted in Superior Court a car belonging to the Louisville & Nashville Railroad was attached on the local yards yesterday morning and will be held pending settlement of the action or the necessary bond has been given. The action is brought by A. H. Jewell, Ward Luke and F. T. Mills, trading as Kentucky Horse & Mule Co., for $1,250 alleged to be due as damages to horses by the negligence or other wrongful act of the defendant company, which horses were shipped to the plaintiffs by A. H. Newell on January 25th, 1912. Service of the papers was accepted by Coast Line officials, who stated that they would hold the car pending further developments in the proceedings.

Three-Cornered Affray

Geo. McAllen, Henry McGee and a negro whose name the police have not learned, all employes at The Orton Hotel, disagreed yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock in the cook room and from there swarmed out through The Orton alley to Front street, where they proceeded to mix things up in great fashion, much to the amusement of the Saturday afternoon crowds. The battle was going merrily on when it was rudely interrupted by Patrolman H. G. Bullard, who arrived and placed McAllen under arrest. The other two negroes fled, but were arrested later. The last two arrested gave bond, but McAllen remained at the City Hall last night.

AQUATIC SPORTS YESTERDAY

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock the first of a series of four water fetes was given in the surf in front of Lumina and was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic gathering despite the inclement weather of the morning, which prevented many people from going to the beach. The attractions consisted of a canoe race which was won by No. 2, Capt. Burke H. Bridgers, in three minutes and 50 seconds, and a canoe tilting contest, won by Messrs. Lord and Davis.

The canoe race began at 4:30 o'clock and at the crack of the pistol all were off in fine style. Canoe No. 4, Capt. Corbett, took the lead, but was overtaken by No. 2, Capt. Bridgers, who held the lead, rounding the flag and landing the canoe in three minutes and 50 seconds. Canoe No. 5, Capt. Lord, came in second and while two other canoes were racing for third honors, No. 4, Capt. Corbett, made a spurt on the crest of a big roller and beached in fine style, beating out the others by a scant margin of two feet. The winning canoe received two silver cups, the second six round trip tickets to the beach and the third two round trip tickets.

The tilting contest followed immediately and was run in four heats. Eight canoes were entered and they went out two at a time, with two men to each canoe. The man in the stern paddled while the man in the bow stood up, holding a long pole with a rubber guard on the end, the idea being to push his opponent out of the boat with this. The sport was very exciting as the two canoes would come together and the bow men strove to knock each other out of the canoe, while the stern men manouvered the boats with the idea of giving their man an advantage. The finals were between Messrs. Clark and Corbett and Lord and Davis, and the event was won by Lord and Davis after a brilliant fight put up by their opponents, lasting fully 20 minutes. The winners received two silver cups, while round trip tickets were awarded those coming out second best.

The events were gotten up under the direction of Mr. Raymond Hunt, of the Tidewater Power Company. Messrs. J. U. King and W. Smith officiated as judges and Mr. W. F. Morrison as starter.

BIGGEST CATCH ON RECORD.

Party from Wrightsville Beach Hauled in Over Two Thousand.

The record catch of deep sea fish with hook and line was made by a party from Wrightsville Beach, who were yesterday guests of Capt. Jas. S. Williams, on his handsome launch, "The Orton," for a trip outside. The party came up to the city Friday evening and dropped down to Southport, going out at daybreak yesterday morning to a point six miles off the bar, remaining for half a day and making a total catch of over 2,000 of various varieties, including pig fish, sailors' choice, brem and other varieties of the briny deep. The catch was more than a flour barrel full and they were brought to the city early yesterday afternoon. The party included Capt. Williams, Dr. M. P. Rucker, of Richmond, Va.; Mr. A. N. Daniels and Master Robert Townsend, of Wilson, N. C., and Mr. R. A. Wooten, of Wilmington. As disciples of Isaak Walton the entire party established a reputation that will follow them in after years.

INVITATION TO SPEAK.

Postmaster Wallace Will Probably Attend National Convention.

Postmaster Thos. E. Wallace has received an invitation to attend the convention of the National Association of Postmasters, to be held at Atlantic City September 4th, 5th and 6th, and he is also invited to deliver an address on the subject, "The Postmaster and the Inspector." Mr. Wallace stated yesterday that in all probability he would accept the invitation and attend the convention.

The convention of the North Carolina Postmasters' Association is to be held in this city and at Wrightsville Beach this year. The date has not yet been determined upon, but it will probably be in September, either preceding the National convention, or immediately following it. It is expected that there will be a large attendance of postmasters here for the annual meeting.

$5.00 IN GOLD FOR A NAME

Almost everyone who has traveled to Wrightsville Beach or visited the Eastern section of Wilmington have noted the work being done on property in charge of this agency. Since November last, a large force of men have been constantly at work; grading, leveling, and converting that large unimproved section between Red Cross and Princess street into beautiful city lots.

Ornamental entrance columns have been erected at 13th, 15th streets and other corners, and next week the new granolithic sidewalks will be begun. Following this comes trees, shrubs, hedges and landscape gardening, so that in a few weeks the homeseeking public will have an opportunity of securing a beautiful and attractive site for their home. Sewerage, lights, water and all city advantages go with this property, while it is near school and car line. It is the intention of the owners to make one of the most beautiful parts of Wilmington.

To give this section a name in keeping with the property after it is improved, suggest that we ask you to make it. At 12 M., next Saturday the contest will close and the first name selected by the judges as being the best and most appropriate will receive the Five Dollars in gold. Address communications, with date and time your letter is written, to Wright's Real Estate Agency, 124 Princess street. **

SUPERIOR COURT TOMORROW

Two-Weeks Criminal Term Begins With Judge Carter, of Asheville, Presiding—Murder Cases on the Docket

With Judge Frank Carter, of Asheville, presiding, the regular July term of New Hanover county Superior Court will convene tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The term is for two weeks and for the trial of criminal cases. Solicitor Henry E. Shaw, of Kinston, will be on hand to look after the interests of the State. He arrived some days ago and after getting his docket in shape left for Carolina Beach, where he has enjoyed the past few days in fishing and indulging in some of the many other pleasures of the resort.

There are some 45 or 50 cases on the docket, not including the 60-odd nolo contendere whiskey cases, but a majority of these are for minor offenses.

However, there are several in which murder is charged, one or two charging burglary, robbery, etc. J. C. Holly, charged with the murder by poisoning of his ward, Edward Cromwell, is to be tried again at this term of court. The trial will consume three or four days, it is thought. This will be the third trial of Holly on this charge. The first time he was convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to be electrocuted and at the last term of court the jury in the second trial were unable to agree and a mistrial resulted. The jury stood 8 to 4 in favor of acquittal, it is said.

Besides the Holly case there are three murder cases for trial at this term. Philister King, colored, will be tried for killing a negro by the name of Foard some months ago. The two men, it is alleged, engaged in a fight and in the encounter King struck Foard in the head, inflicting a wound that caused his death some days later. Fannie Hefner, a white woman, is another defendant to be tried for murder. She is accused of killing a white man named Jordan, who is said to have been endeavoring to enter her room against her protests at the time she fired the fatal shot. The other murder case is one in which Gerhardt Foy, colored, is charged with the killing of William Gause, colored. It is alleged that Foy and Gause had a fight and in the difficulty Foy stamped Gause in the stomach; that some ten days later Gause became violently ill and died at the James Walker Memorial Hospital, where he was taken for treatment. There are several more murder cases on the docket, but the defendants have not yet been captured.

There is considerable speculation as to whether the grand jury will again be called upon to investigate the alleged wholesale violations of the prohibition law in Wilmington. The opinion is pretty freely expressed that there will be developments of interest.

The so-called fish trust cases, in which six of the leading local fish dealers are charged with conspiracy in restraint of trade, are expected to be tried at this term and a large number of witnesses have been summoned on both sides.

The jurors drawn for the first week are as follows:

A WILMINGTON PRODUCT

Moving Against the Jersey Fly and Mosquitoes—Illustration

Mr. Jos. C. Shepard, the well-known Wilmington chemical manufacturer, has been spending the Summer months among the mosquitoes and flies of New Jersey, exploiting his "Wilmington-made" insect exterminator. A recent issue of the Camden, N. J., Courier, says:

"Courier readers have evidently been following the details of the Courier fly-killing contests, being promoted by Dr. Draper, the osteropathist, with great interest. Several children besieged the Courier office yesterday and Monday morning with glass jars and boxes containing quantities of dead flies. One pround youngster brought in 1,040 and exhibited them with much enthusiasm. Another had over 5,000. Several came in for information about the traps that were described at different times in the Courier by which flies can be caught in large numbers.

"News of the Courier fly-killing contest came to Jos. C. Shepard, at Atlantic City, who markets a product prepared from the pine trees of North Carolina, which he calls a House Fly Driver and Insect Exterminator. Mr. Shepard came to Camden on Monday and interviewed Dr. Draper regarding the efficacy of his product.

"They visited the Owl night lunch wagon on the corner of Arch and Federal streets and shut themselves in while the liquid was sprayed about the interior. The result was astonishing. The fragrant odor of the substance had no disagreeable effect upon the occupants of the lunch room but flies died quickly by the hundreds, others escaping precipitately through any openings that could be found. Inside of five minutes the restaurant was free of flies.

"If the Courier fly-killing campaign does no more good than to have discovered this product for the house keepers of Camden it will have served a worthy purpose."

POLICE MADE TWO RAIDS

Officers Visited Alleged Gambling Houses at An Early Hour This Morning—A Number of Arrests Were Made

Headed by Chief John J. Fowler, a squad of about a dozen patrolmen and plainclothes men raided the Cosmopolitan Club, on Princess street, between Front and Water, and another club on Second street just after midnight this morning, making a number of arrests on charges of gambling. The cases are made returnable in the Recorder's court tomorrow morning, most of the defendants furnishing bonds or being recognized for their appearance.

The raid on the Cosmopolitan Club was made first, about 12:45. The officers came up in a body from Water street, and entered through the front door, evidently with a master key. Warrants were issued and served on the following: C. R. Fowler, J. K. Smith, Fred Harrelson, Joe Goldberg, R. A. Jones, all white, and James Everett, colored.

It was stated by one of the officers that in the room in which Messrs. Fowler, Smith, Harrelson and Goldberg were found, they were seated around a table on which were playing cards, poker chips, money, etc. In a drawer in the table money amounting to $75.75 was found, also more chips, cards, etc.

The officers placed all the men under arrest and took them to the police station. They also took the money, cards, poker chips, dice cups, etc.

After escorting the men arrested at the Cosmopolitan Club to police headquarters, Chief of Police Fowler and his men went to an apartment on the second floor of the building at No. 17 South Second street, where they had reason to believe gambling had been going on. They arrested four men, as follows: J. R. Davis, said to be the person who rents the apartment; H. Finberg, J. W. Guthrey and J. F. Zellers. Cards, poker chips, etc., were found by the officers, but there was no money visible.

Chief of Police Fowler announced that the bonds would be fixed at $200 each for appearance at the Recorder's court tomorrow morning. There seemed to be no hurry about arranging bail, but bonds were given later in the night by most of those arrested.

It was said at police headquarters that the raids were made following reports that gambling had been going on in the two places. It was said that the raids were decided upon and arranged last night within an hour.

A musical entertainment of a very high order is promised at the two concerts that are to be given at Lumina this afternoon and tonight. It is seldom that a programme has been prepared for the Lumina concerts containing so many excellent selections. Nearly every number is from some classical production but of such a character as to appeal to the average audience. The foremost atraction for both concerts will, of course, be the singing of Mrs. Frank Pearson. Mrs. Pearson will appear at both the afternoon and the night concerts. Mrs. Pearson is too well known as an artist of exceptional ability to need comment here. She took part in several of the concerts at Lumina last season, and on each occasion she met with enthusiastic reception from the large audiences that heard her sing. There is no doubt that her success of last season will be repeated at the concerts today. Mrs. Pearson has selected two songs to begin her engagement that are especially adapted to her fine voice. At the afternoon concert she will sing, "Beautiful Lady," a selection from that charming opera "The Pink Lady." At the night concert her song will be "Mine." Another important feature will be a concert solo at the night concert by Mr. Elam. The selection that Mr. Elam will play will be "Ave Maria," a piece that is especially suited for the cornet. The "Anvil Chorus" from Il Trovatore, with all electrical effects, is an important number on the night programme. Mr. Woodward, of the orchestra, on whom the duty of producing the effects falls, is very skilful in reproducing a forge scene which is what the electrical effects are supposed to represent. The "Anvil Chorus" with electrical effects was played by the orchestra last year with great success. Other excellent numbers on the programme are "Madame Butterfly", selections; melodies from the "Chocolate Soldier"; selections from "Bohemian Girl"; melodies from "The Pink Lady" and "Songs D'Automne."

Wilder & Metts' Agency has for rent two very desirable floors now occupied by the Eagles Lodge, situated over the People's Supply Co., size 36x100 each, from October 1st, 1912, with a Front street entrance, and an alley in the rear. MARRIED LAST NIGHT.

Miss Alice Sasser Becomes Bride of Mr. E. M. Lutterloh.

Mr. E. M. Lutterloh and Miss Alice Sasser, both of this city, were very happily married last evening at 9:30 o'clock at the parsonage of Bladen Street Methodist church, Rev. W. L. Rexford, the pastor, performing the ceremony. The wedding, though quiet, was very impressive. It was witnessed by quite a number of friends of the bride and groom who had accompanied them to the parsonage, and who showered congratulations and best wishes upon them at its conclusion.

The young people will make their home at corner of Second and Orange streets. Both are very popular among a wide circle of friends, who will join in wishing them a happy and prosperous journey through life.

A STATEMENT

To toe Morning Star:—I wish to correct a statement published in this morning's paper saying that I attempted suicide. I was suffering with a very severe pain in my heart and nervousness and accidentally took an overdose of medicine. I love my home and children too dearly to attempt to take the life that God gave me, in my own hands.

Very respectfully,
MRS. C. F. NORWOOD,
212 Blaney's avenue, July 19, 1912.

DECLINE IN COTTON MARKET

Early Weakening But Partial Recovery Later—Scattering Liquidation For Over the Week-end—Active Demand

New York, July 20.—An early decline in the cotton market today was followed by a partial recovery and the close was steady at a net loss of four to eight points.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 5 to 9 points, and prices sold about 10 to 13 points net lower during the early trading. This reflected scattering liquidation for over the week-end and considerable local pressure inspired by relatively easy cables, reports of further showers in the southwest, and a feeling that the market was entitled to a reaction following yesterday's new high records and a reduction in the speculative short interest. But with the eastern belt forecast calling for continued showers over Sunday the market met a good demand around 12.30 for October and prices late rallied 7 to 8 points from the lowest on covering by early sellers, and support from some of the large trade interests. Closing prices were within a point or two of the best. Reports of a more active demand for cotton goods and higher yarn prices probably contributed to the bullishness of buyers on the early decline, but the advance was most generally considered due to the continued firmness of the old crop situation in spite of the higher prices and to the very favorable character of crop news from east of the Mississippi river.

Receipts of cotton at all the ports today 1,307, against 2,069 last week, and 640 last year. For the week 12,000, against 11,670 last week and 6,262 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 510, against 87 last year, at Galveston 194, against 439 last year, and at Houston 179, against 361 last year.

Spot closed quiet; middling uplands 12.80; middling gulf 13.05; no sales.

Cotton futures closed steady.

STOCKS HEAVY AND DULLER

List Seems to Have Lost Some of Its Recent Firm Undertone—Still Shares Seemed to Sag—Other Securities

New York, July 20.—Heaviness and dullness attended today's two-hour session on the stock exchange. The list seemed to have lost some of its recent firm undertone, several of the standard issues reflecting a degree of pressure.

Steel shares were inclined to sag, but no more so than such other leaders as Reading, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper. General news was meagre, but mostly favorable. One of the largest of the Steel Corporation's subsidaries issued notice of a dollar per ton advance next week in wire and allied products while makers of wrought iron pipe were reported to have withdrawn quotations on pending orders, preliminary to a general rise in prices. There were also the week-end statements of the mercantile agencies confirming other statements reporting increasing optimism in trade on the exceptional crop prospects. Foreign markets seemed to have recovered from the unsettlement caused by latest developments in the Italo-Turkish war.

Actual bank loans decreased over $15,000,000 with a cash gain of $7,500,000 and a reserve increase of practically $8,500,000, bringing the excess cash reserves up to $19,000,000 compared with a deficit two weeks ago. United States government bonds were unchanged on the week. Total sales today 81,500 shares.

THE CANNING OF VEGETABLES

While taking a trip up the Castle Haynes road with a friend, our attention was attracted to a number of young boys and girls who were busily engaged in preparing tomatoes for canning. Upon inquiry we found that Mr. Carl Seitter and Mr. Riter were the proprietors of a small and neat canning outfit, and they informed us that they had practically sold all they could put up.

For years the tomato crop after shipping is over, has been left to rot and waste in the fields, and there is no question but what the same condition exists in several sections of eastern North Carolina. Many dollars could be made by the young men and girls by canning up the fruit after shipping season is over. The land situated along the Castle Haynes road is especiany adapted to the cutlivation of tomatoes, and with the Northern canneries paying $18 and $20 per ton for the tomatoes where they formerly paid $10 and $12 there should be no reason that would make the growing of tomatoes anything but a profitable business.

In a few days the Hanover Realty Company will put one hundred and twenty-five ten-acre farms upon the market, and several five-acre tracts. This land is situated on the Castle Haynes road and the A. C. L. Railroad. With the assurance of a modern canning factory being established at Wrightsboro and being in the very heart of the finest trucking section with railroad facilities for shipping near at hand, we ask you, with these facts before you, where could a better investment be found?

Mr. Jake Seitter is considered to be one of the best truckers in this section, and he has just purchased a 60-acre tract. What better investment could you find for the young man than one of these 5 or 10-acre tracts? Teach him that he should have his pleasures in spending his money, but also impress upon him that pleasures should not be carried to the extreme that would hide the great truth that youth is also the time for preparation for the future. It's opportunities neglected can never be recovered without the severest effort. Generally speaking they are beyond recovery, as many grown folks know to their sorrow. Call at the Hanover Realty Company office and let them show you the land that they have, and you will make no mistake. **

Mrs. M. E. Bordeax, 510 S. Second St., Wilmington, N. C., says: "I willingly verify my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. During the past two and one-half years, I have used this remedy occasionally and it has always brought the very best of results." (Statement given on December 27, 1910.)

The endorsement referred to by Mrs. Bordeax was in substance as follows: "I suffered from dull pains in the small of my back and some days I could hardly get about to attend to my housework. I had a kidney weakness that caused me great annoyance and I knew that a kidney medicine was needed. When I read about Doan's Kidney Pills, I at once got a supply at Bellamy's Drug Store and they restored me to good health. Another member of my family has also taken Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit."

GOV. KITCHIN'S ATTACKS ON SIMMONS

The Carolina Democrat, a paper which he is using as a campaign circular, charged in a recent issue that Senator Simmons was largely concerned in frustrating in the Senate the Democratic measures passed by the House. It even went so far as to charge that Senator Simmons was not receiving the support of the Democrats in his leadership on these bills. Now for the facts. Only two of these bills have been considered by the Senate, one of them being the iron and steel schedule, and the other the chemical schedule. As a matter of fact, the record shows that the Democratic members of the Finance Committee took about a dozen items in the chemical bill, which the House bill put on the dutiable list, and transferred them to the free list, and that these amendments, putting these articles on the free list, were adopted by the Senate. The record shows that when the metal bill was considered the minority members of the Finance Committee, for which Senator Simmons was spokesman, offered amendments to reduce duties on a number of articles in the bill as it passed the House. There was but one amendment offered to take an article off the free list and put it on the dutiable list. That was an amendment offered by Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, a progressive Democratic Senator, to put the duty of 20 per cent on machine tools. Machine tools does not mean carpenters tools, etc. It is a technical term. It is not a tool but a machine used in propelling any tool employed in the manipulation of metals. The duty proposed in this amendment is less than that carried on similar manufactured products. When Senator Pomerene offered this amendment the minority members of the Finance Committee took it under consideration. Senators John Sharp Williams and Stone strongly favored it and Senator Simmons was directed by a majority of the minority members of the committee to accept it. Under this direction he did accept the amendment, not for himself personally, but as the representative of the minority members of the committee. However, as Governor Kitchin knows and as the record shows, he did not vote for it.

Nobody in the Senate has complained of Senator Simmons' management of these tariff bills. Every Democratic caucus that has been called, and several have been called, has approved his course and adopted his suggestions as to the future management of these bills. Governor Kitchin is the only complainant. He finds evil in everything that Mr. Simmons does.

The Platform

Governor Kitchin charges that Senator Simmons is undemocratic and off of the platform on account of his vote on lumber. Well, the new National platform says nothing about lumber. He charges that Senator Simmons was against the doctrine of free raw materials. Well, the Baltimore platform says nothing about free raw material. He charges that Senator Simmons was undemocratic because of his votes on reciprocity. Well, the National platform says nothing about reciprocity.

Why these omissions in the platform? Is it not a recognition of the merits of the contention of those who have stood and voted with Senator Simmons on these propositions? Does not this omission, when interpreted mean, "we do not consider these differences as essential party matters. We leave Democrats to their individual views about them." The truth is the platform adopted at Baltimore is highly satisfactory to Senator Simmons and is a complete vindication of him against Governor Kitchin's onslaughts. This platform is in line with his record and action on these questions.

Senator Simmons advocated the doctrine that the tariff should not be used for or against any class or section, but that it should apply equally, as far as possible, to farmers, miners, manufacturers, and all others; in a word Congress has no right to discriminate.

The Democratic platform does not single out the farmer, and propose to discriminate against him. The reciprocity bill did that very thing, and Mr. Simmons opposed that measure on that account. Leader Underwood, of the House, when he made his report on the farmer's free list bill said, as a reason for proposing that measure, that it was to remedy the injustice done the farmer by the reiprocity bill, that it was unjust to them. It was because reciprocity removed the duties from farm products. It was so unjust to them that the Democratic party in its National platform would not commit the party to its support. Mr. Simmons sought to protect the farmer against that injustice. Does this Kitchin paper and Governor Kitchin propose to sustain this injustice to the farmer, which the National convention has by its silence repudiated?

Governor Kitchin continues his charge that Senator Simmons voted for a ship subsidy. His organ, The Carolina Democrat, with which he is broadcasting the State, went so far as to charge that Senator Simmons introduced a ship subsidy bill. Senator Simmons never introduced a ship subsidy bill or any bill relating to our ocean mail service. So the author started out with a bold, barefaced misstatement. The whole article can be judged from this palpable inaccuracy. As has heretofore been shown by the Congressional Record, four bills with reference to the merchant marine and ocean mail service have been introduced in the Senate and voted upon since Senator Simmons has been a member of that body, and upon these four bills Senator Simmons voted exactly as every other Democratic Senator voted. The record will show that any statement to the contrary is without foundation. Senator Simmons has always voted against subsidies. The measure upon which he made the speech to which Governor Kitchin refers simply provided that the same compensation should be paid American ships carrying the mail to South America that under the present law is paid American ships carrying the mail to Europe. On this bill Senator Simmons voted as did every other Democratic Senator. The declaration of the Baltimore platform upon this subject is entirely satisfactory to Senator Simmons. It is the most liberal the party has ever made upon the subject. It declares strongly for the purposes he has had in view all the while—that of trying to develop our trade with South America by providing adequate mail and transportation facilities and using the profits we are now realizing on our mail service for that purpose.

Again, Mr. Kitchin's organ, The Carolina Democrat, charges that "the chief claim for statesmanship that Senator Simmons' followers are urging for him, is his supposed ability to 'pull the leg' of the government." And then that paper quotes from the platform the denunciation of "the profligate waste of money" by recent Republican Congresses, as if the objects for which Mr. Simmons has secured appropriations were of that nature. Mr. Simmons can well accept this challenge on part of this Kitchin paper that so thorough mirrows Governor Kitchin and his views.

His friends give him great credit for having secured appropriations for the State of great public importance. This Kitchin organ holds him up to ridicule, as "pulling the leg" of the government in subserving those public objects. These objects have been the conservation and development of our resources and of our waterways. The platform says: "We renew the declaration in our last platform relating to the conservation of our National resouces and the development of our waterways. We favor the adoption of a liberal and comprehensive plan for the development of our inland waterways."

Senator Simmons was the first to propose National aid to State highways, and the convention for the first time in the history of the party declared: "We favor National aid to State and local authorities in the construction and maintenance of post roads."

Does this Kitchin paper stand on the platform? Does Governor Kitchin approve of the course of this organ of his in characterizing as a "profligate waste of money," the millions of dollars which Senator Simmons has obtained for the improvement of our North Carolina rivers and harbors and the development of 3,000 miles of navigable waters, for the preservation of our mountain forests and our Piedmont waterpowers? Does he approve of the position of this organ of his in characterizing Senator Simmons' efforts to secure government aid for the maintenance and up-keep of our rural route roads as "pulling the leg" of the government? If he does then Governor Kitchin is off the Democratic platform with both feet.

TROOPS AT CAMP PETTUS.

Problems for National Guard Regiments Worked Out at Anniston.

Anniston, Ala., July 20.—Problems for the National Guard regiments involving advance guard, flank guard and outposts, together with rides and walks by officers, occupied the attention of soldiers at Camp Pettus today.

Interest among the regiments now centers in the long hike and big sham battle scheduled for Monday and Tuesday.

The regiments of National Guard now participating in maneuvers here will break camp Wednesday and return to their respective States. They will be succeeded by the First, Second and Third regiments, from Kentucky, including brigade headquarters and a field hospital, and by the South Carolina and first Alabama regiments.

HOUSE DEMOCRATS CALL IN A BODY

described in his history as men of the meaner sort. I wanted to know what he meant by that phrase and he told me so plainly that I am going to support him and work for him."

Maj. Stedman Calls

Major Chas. M. Stedman, of Greensboro, N. C., and Joseph T. Robinson, Governor-elect of Arkansas, greeted the Governor warmly.

"It's a hard job they have elected you to fill," the Governor told Mr. Robinson.

"I realize it," replied the latter. "I will do my best."

The guests were all served with punch—without a stimulating ingredient in it—and with cake on the lawn. After they had all greeted the Governor and many had gone to the train awaiting them on a siding, Representative Rubey, of Missouri, and Francis, of Ohio, came up to say goodbye.

"Every Missouri representative in Washington came up," Mr. Rubey told him. "There isn't any feeling now in Missouri against you. We wanted Champ Clark to win, but we don't hold it against you because he did not and we want you to come out to our State and make a speech when you can."

The Governor replied that he had made no plans for the campaign and that when he did he would do the best by Missouri that he could.

"The day was one of the most delightful I have ever experienced," he said. "It was very gratifying to have so large a representation of Democratic members of Congress make the visit to Seagirt. I am told that the occasion was unique in American history and for that reason was the more enjoyed and appreciated."

New York Headquarters.

New York, July 20.—Chairman William F. McCombs, of the National Democratic Committee, and Secretary Joseph Davies were busy today at the temporary headquarters of the committee getting things into shape to inaugurate the campaign here. Permanent headquarters will probably be opened next Tuesday at 33rd street and Broadway.

By a peculiar coincidence the building which may house the Wilson committee is known as the "Wilson Building." It is related that Secretary Reynolds, of the Republican National Committee, had made all arrangements to take this same place for Republican headquarters and then having learned the name of the building, changed his mind.

Secretary Davies left today for Madison, Wis., his home, and will return Tuesday. Chairman McCombs will also be away from the city over Sunday and will return Monday to meet the campaign committee at the Hotel Knickerbocker.

Before Mr. Davies left he announced that Walker Whiting Vick, of Rutherford, N. J., would be appointed assistant secretary of the Democratic National Committee.

—License was issued yesterday for the marriage of Mr. Albert J. Sasser, and Miss Lizzie M. Wortham, of Delgado.

COST OF RUNNING FOR OFFICE

Five Millions Needed to Launch Third Party—Firebug Syndicate May be Ousted—High Prices of Meats—Other Notes.

New York, July 20.—Now that the Chicago and Baltimore conventions are matters of history, New Yorkers are busily speculating as to whether the country is to see a campaign which, financially at least, will make all those which have gone before look like the proverbial 30 cents.

As a result of the talk of a new third party headed by Roosevelt, the public is getting some insight into the expense of getting the voters to the polls in the proper frame of mind. Five million dollars is the amount which many experts figure the sage of Oyster Bay will need to carry out a National movement along the lines projected, and although the sum seems large it is undoubtedly not much over the mark. Indeed, by some it is held to be considerably under it. There is no question that it costs far more today than even four years ago to carry on effective political agitation and the high cost of campaigns threatens to become as serious a problem to the politicians as the high cost of living is to the average mortal. Estimates made within the past few days from men in a position to judge with reasonable accuracy place the amount expended by the Roosevelt and Taft forces in their pre-convention campaigns at a million dollars apiece, while the cost of inflating the booms of the more numerous Democratic aspirants probably reached about the same total. Just why such a vast sum as $5,000,000 may be needed to set a brand new party on its legs is indicated by the fact that the cost of getting only one circular of postcard size to each voter in the country is about $200,000. Maintenance of headquarters in each of the 2,940 counties in the United States would cost heavily, and even if, instead of counties, the 390 Congressional districts were used as the basis of organization, the cash would still go at a rate to make a millionaire's income seem trifling. When the cost of lecture halls, traveling expense, entertainment bills, campaign bills and all the other items are figured in the estimate of $5,000,000 does not appear to be far out of the way.

That seven and a half billion pounds of sugar will be consumed in the United States during the present year is the estimate compiled by a statistical expert here. If this prediction is verified it will mean an average consumption of a little over 80 pounds of sugar for every man, woman and child in the country, or more than a pound and a half every week. It will mark an increase of the trifling amount of 188,000 tons over the consumption during 1911, or enough to fill a train of freight cars reaching from New York to Philadelphia. In no other country in the world, according to this authority, is the use of sugar increasing so rapidly as in the United States and no other people uses it as extensively as Americans, except the British, whose record will be overhauled and passed within a few years if the present rate of increase on this side of the Atlantic is maintained. The explanation of this increased demand for sweets is interesting, since, like many other present-day developments, it is attributed to the advancing cost of living. It is pointed out that with the steadily mounting price of meat the ordinary man is forced to eat less of this product and makes up for it by using more sugar which is recognized by dietists as a great heat and energy producer within the body. It might be expected as a natural result of this increased demand that the price of sugar itself would advance, but this, the expert shows, is one of the very food products that have not increased materially in price within the past few years. The explanation given of this is the rapid increase in the production of sugar in the United States which serves to hold down the price during a part of the year and, this authority says, ultimately will mean a complete domestic supply of sugar at cheap rates providing the growing of sugar continues to be encouraged as in the past.

New York pawnbrokers, reputed to be the wiliest of mankind, are weeping tears as the result of their discovery of the unpleasant fact that they have themselves been made the victims of a hoax. Bad as this is, the situation is made still more gloomy because of the fact that it was the members of the police force who turned the trick. For many years it has been the custom of the city's "uncles" to advance money on Winter police uniforms during the Summer months and vice versa, thus affording the officers some ready cash and relieving them of the necessity of stowing away clothing in moth balls. Last Fall the Summer uniforms were hung on the racks. There they still remain, for a new design of uniform has been accepted and the patrolmen have so little use for their old clothes that they will not come for them. The unredeemed uniforms are all but valueless, the pawnbrokers say. At the auction sales they bring exceedingly low prices. Generous amounts were allowed the owners because it was believed to be certain that they would be needed again, and it also was well to be on the good side of the police. It is said that one broker sent a circular to all patrolmen, advising them of the large amounts allowed, and as a result he had as many as 600 police outfits in his lofts. The "good uncles" are so glum that they are even thinking of appealing to Commissioner Waldo. However, there is nothing to prevent a patrolman pawning his uniform if he is so inclined, provided the buttons, precinct numbers or other city property are removed. None the less, it is intimated that action of some sort will be taker at the next meeting of the Pawnbrokers' Association. A pawnbroker recently said he had allowed four patrolmen $18 apiece on their last year's suits. Sold in the Bowery they netted him each $4.

That the death knell of the "arson trust"—a curious organization of New York's underworld—will soon be sounded, is the belief of the Fire Department here as the result of arrests which it is expected will shortly be made after half a decade of endeavor to bring within the clutches of the law the members of an organization which has capitalized the building of incendiary fires. According to the fire marshal, this gang in the conduct of its ingenious pursuit, has caused the loss of more than $1,000,000 in the last five years through small fires. Although its existence has long been known, the make-up of the organization is apparently as uncertain and changeable as that of the "Black Hand." It is sometimes called the "Firebug Syndicate" and is said to consist of a number of quick-witted and rather ingenious scoundrels whose usual plan of campaign is to make bargains with persons willing to defraud insurance companies by which the firebug receives a stated sum, ranging from $25 to $100 for starting a blaze in small apartments with the connivance of those who live there who have previously insured their petty belongings for as large sums as bug Syndicate" become of late, however, that as a result of their recent operations and the assistance of a member of the underworld in the confidence of the police, it is now believed that within a very short time evidence will be completed which will ensure the elimination of one of the strangest and certainly the most dangerous of New York's many trusts.

In the prediction of local butchers that New York will be practically a vegetarian city by Fall unless the present high prices of meat abate, local students of the high cost of living problem have at last discovered a state of affairs which they believe will go much further toward putting an end to the Beef Trust than all the actions which have been brought against it by the Federal Government. In other words, they now look to the packers to dig their own industrial graves unless meat products become cheaper very speedily. This new view is due to the fact that a considerable number of butchers in nearby territory have already been forced out of business or had to close up their shops temporarily, because prices on the products which they handle have soared to such an altitude as to reduce their trade to practically nothing. As a result it is a matter of almost daily occurrence to hear of the closing of one or more big butcher shops, particularly in the suburbs. Once deprived of these distributing plants it is believed that even the mighty beef barons may be brought to feel the effective antagonism of a public now groaning under prices higher than at any time since the Civil War. The presence of hot weather when the consumption of meat is at its lowest, coupled with the tendency to substitute fish for meat, undoubtedly has had something to do with the hard straights in which local butchers now find themselves. The prohibitive prices of beef, however, are undoubtedly the most important factor in a situation which may ultimately lead to relief. Should this be the case, it will be an interesting example of a big corporation killing the goose which lays the golden eggs, since it is at last being demonstrated that there is a limit even to the price which the public will pay for meats.

THOU! ANGEL OF THE BATTLE-FIELD.

Thou! Angel of the battle-field,
Thy work of "Faith" is done;
Fair lilies mark thy spirit's flight,
Thy crown of "Victory" won;
Thine arm that wore the Crimson Cross,
Thy hand that carried balm—
To heal the wound, to ease the pain.
Oh! could it rescue on.

Born on the Holy Christmas Day,
Thy mission then unknown;
Translated near the Easter Morn.
To wake before the throne;
Oh! type of yon blest diadem,
How lovely thou wilt grace
That shining realm of Paradise,
There to behold His face.

Thine eyes now have a brighter hue,
Thy brow no pain doth know;
Thy smile is like the gleaming star,
Thy voice is soft and low;
And all thy paths are peace and joy,
'Mid flowers of perfume rare,
Whilst at the "Cross" thine armor lies
Eternal "In His Care."

Mail Carriers Will Fly.

This is an age of great discoveries. Progress rides on the air. Soon we may see Uncle Sam's mail carriers flying in all directions, transporting mail. People take a wonderful interest in a discovery that benefits them. That's why Dr. King's New Discovery for coughs, colds and other throat and lung diseases is the most popular medicine in America. "It cured me of a dreadful cough," writes Mrs. J. F. Davis, Stickney Corner, Me., "after doctor's treatment and all other remedies had failed." For coughs, colds or any bronchial affection it's unequaled. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at R. R. Bellamy.

Wilmington's New $300,000 Union Passenger Station

Above is given a faithful reproduction of Wilmington's handsome new $300,000 union station and office building, being erected at corner of Front and Red Cross streets by the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, the Boyle-Robertson Construction Co., of Washington, D. C., being the contractors. Mr. Joseph F. Leitner, of this city, is the architect. The building will be one of the handsomest union stations in this section of the South.

AN ACADEMY OF FINE ARTS

Proposed for the University of North Carolina, and With Chapters Throughout the State—One In Wilmington

(By Dr. Russell Bellamy, Class of 1891, University of North Carolina.)

A very scholarly and cultured oldish Southern gentleman, who had accumulated a fair amount of money in the North, while engaged in commercial pursuits, said to me some years ago, that from all he could learn of the South and hear during his visits to his ancertral State that the South was not as of old. The poverbial, hospitality, gallantry, valor and refined manners seemed to be beginning to be set aside and the fineness and lightheartedness of the people was being lost, and he feared that the infectious germ of frenzied finance, so prevalent in a narrow, high-walled, sordid commercial street, had permeated the land he had once held so sacred and that the bulwarks safe-guading the honor and chivalry of the men, the virtue of the women, and the sanctity of the home were about to be torn down. "For these reasons," he said, "I want to be buried there, I never want to go back to live."

After an absence of 20 years, on returning to our Southern country, one notices many changes and among them some things seems to be subservient to commerce, a word in America quite synonymous with monopoly. Many of the agreeable courteous, delightfully charming manners of the people may be set aside by this demon of angular ways and to conniving politicians, representing the "interests and requesting special privileges," which I fear are beginning to occupy the place once filled by grace, politeness and comfort though oftentimes blended with sadness.

Art encourages unselfish individual effort, which means lasting happiness. Fifty years ago, many of the arts now partially dead stood first in the South. Surgery produced men who became international conquerors of disease; agriculturists who had no peers, with the exception of Daniel Webster, oratory a branch of the poetic art, stood at the zenith; while statesmanship, a cousin of this art, whose love of honor was its glory, was controlled almost solely by Southern brain. Here were beautiful women without superiors, and the love of Aesthetics was regarded by each and every one as an inspiration and pleasure at all times.

Art has no monopoly; in other words it cannot be monopolized. Then to quickly regain these lost arts and as a "Rennaissance" which from now on must experience a resurrection of the past ante-bellum culture, the, the enthusiasm of her sons and the studies of her people can soon make it possible. This will be the quickest and easiest way to inculcate a feeling of regard for the finer and sweeter side of life. The gifted and much bereaved Governor Johnson, of Minnesota, said: "I would rather write a book that would live 100 years than to be able to amass wealth that would enable those who inherit to live in luxury, yet the amassing of wealth may be of vast individual advantage to the country and to those who seek honest work and wages? But wealth getting becomes a crime when the man who obtains it does so by the sale of his finer instincts, by the sacrifice of his character, by the violation of the 's laws, and the trespass of the rights of others."

The achievement of the Fine Arts Academy will in turn tend to neutralize the sordidness of hard-hearted financial measures and to imprint on the brows and faces of our people expressions of happiness, joy and pleasure, a type of Southern expression which lasted more than 75 years, but which might become extinct, it being supplanted by stony, grim-faced and at times, almost savage expressions, so prevalent in many metropolitan centres.

The South having nearly-twothirds of the cotton plants of the world, the success of its finances is absolutely assured, as the rest of the world is compelled to kneel as she wishes the most necessary covering of mankind; hence a strong enthusiastic desire for the artistic and love of art as a neutralizant for love of money, which, according to a mighty thinker, is becoming to be wirshipped as America's God. This my native State, the land of my ancestorse for several hundred years, seems a fitting spot from which to send the news throughout the Southland of the etsablishment of North Carolina's Academy of Fine Arts at the University with its Clarendon Chapter, which should include music, architecture, sculpture, painting and poetry and the drama. This academy should have branch chapters in every city, town and hamlet in the unique State of its birth, the State with its highest of mountains as one comes eastward crossing the Mississippi, its cabinet of most varied minerals and clays and ending with its most dangerous of all the Atlantic sea coasts.

With North Carolina can come together all the Southern States and establish the Southern Academy of Fine Arts; this in turn blend with the North, East and West in the establishment of a National Academy and as electricity and aeroplanes annihilate boundaries and distances, there could be formed an international academy.

The fondest realization of your fellow Carolinian's imagination, at a not far off time, will be to find temples and even miniature models of Greek and Assyrian Architecture scattered throughout the South country, where deeds of valor, heroism and sacrifices have not been surpassed in the history of all time. By proclaiming aloud to our children our traditions and history, reviewing the studies of Ancient Assyrian, Greek and Roman culture, we can quickly reconquer our fast-fading glorious past.

North Carolina's history, once that of Virginia, her soil, climate and scenery especially adapt her to become the pioneer State to establish a school of Fine Arts. Her variety of climes lend anew musical tones to the imagination; her woods, most varied of any of our States, beckon one to use them in the realms of architecture; her clays and marbles call forth the sculptor to do as the Greeks of old; her heavenly tints and multi-colors awaken the painter, while the voices of her ancestral orators and poets come back and order the tape to light again the beacon lights to lend their descendants to rival the voices of Demosthenes, Cicero and Pericles and the tragedies of Sophocles and the comedies of Aristophanes.

Our leading architects, artists and lovers of Fine Arts are most interested. The club may have as its home the top story of the building being erected at corner of Front and Market streets.

PHYSICIANS PREJUDICED.

Notwithstanding the fact that a very large percentage of doctors' prescriptions call for proprietary medicines, because they can find nothing better, they are naturally prejudiced against the direct sale of these family remedies because it decreases their incomes.

However this may be, the general public is benefitted by the use of such standard medicines as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as is proven by the thousands of grateful letters on file at the Pinkham Laboratories, at Lynn, Mass., from women all over the United States who have been helped by it, and it is prescribed by those honest physicians who are broad enough to overlook prejudice and recognize true merit.

$343,692 IN GEMS MINED

Arkansas and California Diamonds—North Carolina Emeralds

(From The Sun Bureau).

Washington, July 14.—Gems valued at $343,692 were mined in the United States in 1911, which is $50,000 greater than the preceding year, according to a bulletin by the Geological Survey. The American mines yielded $2,700 in diamonds, $9,500 worth of emeralds, $215,313 worth of sapphires and $44,751 worth or turquois.

American diamonds come from Arkansas and California, while the emeralds are found in North Carolina. The largest emerald found in North Carolina measured 1 inch by 3-4 inch by an inch. It was cut into 20 gems and has no visible flaws.

Denver, Colo., July 20.—Charged with the duty of legislating for the fraternal interests of nearly three quarters of a million men, the Supreme Lodge, Knight of Pythias, will assemble in Denver, August 6th, and will continue in session about ten days.

This will be the most important convention in the history of the third largest purely fraternal society in North America, and its deliberations will be followed with keen interest in more than 7,000 communities.

The personnel of the convention will be notable. The Supreme Chancellor, Hon. George M. Hanson, Calais, Me., a Justice of the Supreme Court, will preside, and associated with him will be eminent jurists, clergymen, lawyers, presidents of universities, and other leading educators, bankers, manufacturers, railroad officials, merchants, editors, publishers, secretaries of institutions and corporations, many public officials of the National, State and city governments, statesmen, publicists, etc.—men who are making large contributions to the forces of our civilization. What they do in Denver, will have potential effect in more than 7,900 lodges throughout the world.

The administration of Judge Hanson, since his unanimous election in Milwaukee in 1910, has been one of dignity, efficiency and success. He will report a cerditable increase in membership and added growth in the work of the fraternity. Hon. Thos. J. Carling, Macon, Ga., the present Supreme Vice Chancellor, who will succeed Judge Hanson, is a man of wide experience, broad and generous sympathies, and one of the best loved men in the order. The other officials are: Rev. Joseph H. Spearing, Supreme Prelate, Sewanee, Tenn; Head Master of Sewanee Academy, one of the select schools of the South; Fred E. Wheaton, Supreme Keeper of Records and Seal, Minneapolis, Minn., for many years a publisher and editor and one of the most brilliant men in fraternal service; Thomas D. Meares, Supreme Master of Exchequer, Wilmington, N. C., City Treasurer, and one of the most popular men in the order; Edward A. Horton, Supreme Master at Arms, St. Thomas, Ont., a manufacturer; Harry A. Drachman, Supreme Inner Guard, Tucson, Ariz., shoe merchant; Henry M. Wadsworth, Supreme Outer Guard, Philadelphia, Clerk of the Orphans' Court, a member of the order since 1868, and Judge Henry P. Brown, Past Supreme Chancellor, Cleburne, Texas,—jurist, orator and statesman whose recent administration adorns Pythian history.

Some important subjects will be presented for legislative action. Judge Hanson will recommend the reduction in the age limit for membership from 21 years to 18. This will be thoroughly discussed. The proposition was negatived in 1910 at Milwaukee. The extension of the order into foreign lands will also be considered. In addition to the lodges in the United States and Canada, the order has under the control of the Supreme Lodge, eight lodges in the Canal Zone, two in China, one in Cuba, six in the Territory of Hawaii and one in the Philippines. The four lodges in Mexico are under the control of the Texas Grand Domain. The Grand Lodges of Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia have asked that the order be extended to Separation of Church and State Live Issue in Germany—Potash Mines and Developments. Wall Around Peking.

Berlin, July 20.—The separation of church and State is becoming a live question in Germany. For several years the supporters of this idea have been growing more numerous among the intelligent classes of the people. University professors are coming forward in increasing numbers in favor of it, and it is receiving more and more attention among the political parties.

The Social Democratic party has made it one of the "planks" in its platform for many years. The Radicals demanded the separation above 60 years ago, after the stirring events of 1848, and it is assumed that they will again support it if the question should come up for a vote in the Prussian Legislature. Even the Conservative party, which contains most of the orthodox Protestants of the country, is evidently viewing the idea of a separation with growing sympathy. The "Kreuz Zeitung", the organ of that party, has just printed a leading editorial on the matter, in which it says: "In the Conservative party there is a rapidly growing disposition to prevent the further secularization and externalization of the church by separating it from the State." The growing estrangement of the German people from all churches is another argument advanced. It is said that not more than one person in 100 in Berlin attends church. Several recent heresy trials in the Prussian Evangelical church have also given a strong impetus to the sentiment for a separation. It is the opinion of the National Zeitung, a leading National Liberal organ, that there is already a clear majority in the country favoring the separation of church and State.

* * *

The journalistic attempt to bring about a peaceful settlement of the differences between Germany and England by means of an exchange of views between prominent representatives of both nations, carried out by the publishers of the well known German monthly "North and South," seems merely to have intensified the controversy. The views of Balfour, Lord Haldane, Sir Thomas Barclay and a long list of other prominent English politicians and publicists are answered by 23 leading Germans, representing parliamentary, military, banking, industrial, agragrian and journalistic circles in the July number just published. The list of contributors to the German symposium includes Prince Lichnowsky, of the House of Lords, Arthur von Gwinner, director of the Deutsche Bank; August Tayssen, one of the greatest German industrial leaders; Count Posadoffsky, former Minister of the Interior; Prince von Schoenaich-Carelath, Ernst Bassermann, Count von Schwerin-Loewitz and other prominent members of the Reichstag; Vice Admirals Calster and von Ahlefeld, Prof. Schiemann, a newspaper writer popularly supposed to have the ear of the Emperor, and Theodor Wolff, editor of the Berlin Tageblatt and probably the most influential journalist in Germany.

Balfour's arraignment of the Germans for following "a policy incompatible with the rights of other nations," and Sir Thomas Barclay's criticism of the German settlement of the Franco-Prussian War have naturally failed to please, and there is in return a quite general criticism of English policy as desiring to hamper Germany at all costs. One and all, the German writers defend the existence of a strong German fleet as a vital issue for Germany, being needed to protect its constantly growing foreign commerce and insure the import of the food supply as necessary for Germany as for England. It is pointed out that even in the best years Germany raises only enough food to feed her population six days of the week, and cites English statistics to show that while England has to import food for 30,000,000 of its population, Germany must do the same for from 21,000,000 to 22,000,000 of hers.

While potash mines are free from the terrible explosions which make coal mining dangerous to life and property, a disaster at the Jessenitz mine in Mecklenberg shows that potash mining is an extremely risky business for the capitalist. This mine, on which about $4,000,000 had been spent for development, has been totally wrecked by an inflow of water, an underground connection having been established with a lake two miles distant. While a party of mining officials were at the bottom of the shaft, over half a mile below the surface, repairing the hoisting apparatus, a mighty rush of water was heard in the distant tunnels. The men were barely able to save themselves, climbing the half mile of ladders only an instant before the flood swept up the shaft, which it filled to within 40 yards of the surface. At the same time the level of the lake fell more than a foot, showing that over 480,000 cubic yards of water had gone into the mine from the lake alone.

The managers pronounce the mine a total loss, considering it utterly impossible to pump out the workings in view of the connection not only with the lake, but also with the river Elbe.

Expel Mormon Elders.

Stockholm, July 20.—The government has decided to expel all Mormon elders engaged in active propaganda and proselyting in Sweden. The first victims of this decision were Johan Cederlund and Andreas Hansen, both American citizens. At the same time a black list containing the names of 29 American Mormons was issued, but the government decided not to proceed against these elders at the present time.

The determination of the government to stop the Mormon campaign meets with popular approval, and it is likely that any elder attempting active proselyting will be expelled from the country.

The Walls of Peking.

Peking, July 20.—A heavy gate and wall, proof against bullets and small shells, has been constructed across the western end of Legation Street, corresponding with similar gates at the other entrances to the Legation Quarter.

A tunnel has also been bored from the American Guard Compound under the roadway up on to the main wall of the city, a section of which, dominating the Quarter, the Americans and German troops hold. These new protective measures are the work of the American Legation, which has hitherto stood exposed to possible attack on two sides.

One reason for the gates and tunnel not having been constructed earlier is that the American Legation has always considered the sensitiveness of enlightened Chinese, who are exposed to the presence of foreign troops and the fortifications surrounding the Legation Quarter. The outbreak February 29th last, sent many of the leading members of the new government, including the Premier, and also many Manchu Princes, into the safe confines of the Legation Quarter for protection. The American Guard had then to rely on sandbags for closing Legation street, and had to mount the wall by open ramps. The present measures are, however, only precautionary, as an anti-foreign outbreak in Peking is not anticipated.

THE CORN EXPOSITION

Great National Show In Sister City Next January

Columbia, S. C., July 20.—One of the most interesting features of the National Corn Exposition, to be held in Columbia next January, is the first Exposition School for boys, which will be composed of the prize winners in the Boys' Corn Clubs in every county in the Southern States. The attendance upon the school is expected to reach at least one thousand, and preparations are being laid on a broad scale.

J. B. Hobdy, of Alabama, has been selected as superintendent of the school. Mr. Hobdy is the assistant in charge of the Boys' Corn Club work in Alabama. Later on he will make his headquarters in the National Corn Exposition offices at Columbia. Mr. Hobdy stands exceedingly high among agricultural educators of the country, and his experience fits him for the management of the unique school. The boys will be divided into companies and squads, and through the co-operation of President Riggs, of Clemson Agricultural College, cadets of the first-class will be placed in command of the boys, who will be under semi-military discipline during their stay in Columbia. They will be comfortably quartered on the State Fair grounds near the Exposition buildings, and will be given daily instructions along agricultural lines by some of the foremost agriculturists of the country who will be in attendance at the Exposition. But the boys will not have all work; the City of Columbia, through its council, has made an appropriation for a banquet to be given the boys on the last night of the school. The trip to South Carolina will of itself be quite an incentive to any of the boys living in distant States. There are enrolled in Boys' Corn Clubs this year seventy-five thousand boys in the various Southern States, and the pupils at the school will be the selected boys out of this great aggregation.

As a tribute to Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, whose work for the agricultural development of the South makes it peculiarly appropriate that his memory be honored in connection with the Boys' Corn Club work, South Carolina will offer a handsome bronze bust, as the prize for the State making the best showing each year in the boys' and girls' club work. The award of this bust of Dr. Knapp will be made during the exposition school, probably at the boys' banquet. Several notable men have already promised to be present on this occasion and participate in the issuing of diplomas to the boys and awarding of the bust.

What Makes a Woman?

One hundred and twenty pounds, more or less, of bone and muscle don't make a woman. It's a good foundation. Put into it health and strength and she may rule a kingdom. But that's just what Electric Bitters gives her. Thousands bless them for overcoming fainting and dizzy spells and for dispelling weakness, nervousness, backache and tired, listless, worn out feeling. "Electric Bitters have done me a world of good," writes Eliza Pool, Depew, Okla., "and I thank you with all my heart, for making such a good medicine." Only 50c. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy.

FOR THE WOMAN WHO THINKS AND FEELS.

Some women complain that they periodically suffer from dull and heavy feelings, or dizziness in the head, nervousness, pain and bearing-down feelings which should not occur to the normal healthy woman. But most every woman is subject to these pains at some time in her life, due to abnormal conditions in life, such as corsets, over-taxed strength, bad air, poor or improper food, wet feet, sluggish liver, etc. A regulator and female tonic made from native medicinal roots with pure glycerin, and without the use of alcohol, called has proven its value in thousands of cases, like the following:

MRS. DONA M. MARTIN, of Auburn, Nebr., Route 1, Box 84, says: "I thought I would write you in regard to what your medicines have done for me. I have used them for thirty years for female trouble and general weakness with the very best result, and they have saved me hundreds of dollars in doctors' bills. I buy the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and take them together. I never was disappointed in your remedies and take pleasure in recommending them to any suffering lady. I am now almost fifty years old; at forty-five I took your medicines, both kinds, and I passed that period very easily and left me fat and healthy. I feel like a young girl.

"If any lady cares to write me, I will gladly tell her more about the good work of your medicines."

KITCHIN'S FRIENDS OPTIMISTIC

State Manager McNinch Gives Out Interview on Progress of Campaign—Attack on Senator Simmons' Record

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Charlotte, N. C., July 20.—Hon. F. R. McNinch, Governor Kitchin's State campaign manager, has given out the following interview in this city, where he is detained by sickness in his family.

"The logic of recent and important political events points unerringly to Governor Kitchin's nomination. Progressive Democracy has won out in our National convention and will triumph in our State primary. The nomination of Wilson and Marshall was an emphatic repudiation of machine methods, boss rule and the power of special interests, things which Governor Kitchin has consistently and persistently fought.

"The Baltimore platform is progressive and is a severe indictment of Senator Simmons' record. Surely his friends will not now claim that the National convention made a 'personal attack' on our Senior Senator when it declared that the tariff shall be levied for 'revenue only,' that the tariff does not help the farmer or working man; when it denounced subsidies and bounties and endorsed the splendid record of the Democratic House and then clinched it all with the unprecedented declaration that platform pledges are made to be kept. What answer to this indictment by his party can Senator Simmons make? How will he answer to his Democratic constituents upon the several counts for violating the platform as to free lumber, for his votes for protection on iron ore, coal, etc., his vote for the ocean mail subsidy, and his failure to vote and act in harmony with the Democratic House? The platform is plainly, emphatically a repudiation of many important features of Senator Simmons' record and is a complete and positive vindication and endorsement of Governor Kitchin's speeches and course in this campaign.

"The ejection of Lorimer from the Senate is another vindication of Governor Kitchin's course. He criticised Senator Simmons for voting for Boss Lorimer, and now the Senator admits the Governor's case by reversing himself and voting to oust Lorimer. Same Lorimer, same evidence, same Senator—presto, change. Lorimer but a conspicuous example of a rotten system of bi-partisan political debauchery. Both Democrats and Republicans voted for his election. The lavish and secret use of money by special interests, as in his case, is both alarming and disgusting to honest voters, and his ejection is but another wave in the rising tide of popular rule which will bear Governor Kitchin into the Senate.

"The action of the friends of the Governor in asking the State Executive Committee to construe the 'Democratic Ticket' to mean the National, State, Congressional and county tickets has greatly strengthened his cause as it shows he is relying on Democrats for his nomination and is fighting for party purity. His friends and the friends of Judge Clark joined heartily in the request for this construction, while the friends of Senator Simmons, who were in the majority, refused to agree and postponed action. The Democrats of this State want no bi-partisan primary at the expense of party principle.

"Another important factor in this campaign favorable to Governor Kitchin is the fact that there is a widespread and well-founded belief that the politicians and would-be bosses made an effort in our State convention to shield the vulnerable record of Senator Simmons from public criticism. The people are opposed to the bosses manipulating conventions and are resenting the attempt to prejudice the Senatorial contest by such methods. No wonder that the primary plan is sweeping the country and that the people are crying everywhere, 'down with the bosses and ringsters.'

"And Governor Kitchin's speeches have also greatly contributed to the certainty of his nomination. His speeches are unanswerable because based on facts and the record. His enemies tried to distort and misrepresent his speech. Too many have now heard it and know that it is not abusive or personal or unfair, but a dignified, high-toned discussion of only the public record of Senator Simmons and an unanswerable exposure of his departing from the Democratic faith and the majority of his party on certain important questions, together with a strong presentation of the Democratic platform and an earnest plea for the Democratic candidates, National, State and local.

"Information from many sources convinces me of the steady growth of sentiment for the Governor. In some instances it is remarkable. Some counties which I regarded as decidedly against him only a few weeks ago, are reported now as for him. Four years ago he got less than nine per cent of the vote in the Ninth and Tenth districts combined, but his strength there has increased several hundred-fold.

"Public sentiment has set in strongly towards the Governor as the type of progressive Democrat who should represent us in the Senate, now that we are to have a progressive President, and I confidently predict an overwhelmingly victory for Wilson and Kitchin."

HOME HEALTH CLUB

By Dr. David H. Reeder, La Porte, Indiana.

Nervous Prostration:—Any one thus afflicted must not expect to get back to a normal condition in a few days. The cause was a long time at work and the cure must be in proportion. First discover the cause and the remedy will be easy. Nervous prostration means the breaking down of the nerve centres because of lack of nourishment; overwork, mental or physical; following typhoid and other fevers; a generally diseased condition. Chronic indigestion is probably the most frequent cause of this distressing condition. In this case a sane treatment is far more effective than doping yourself with poisonous nostrums, advertised to cure nervousness. They are, in every instance, opiates, narcotics and such stuff, they may relieve you temporarily, but they are always dangerous in many ways. They weaken the organs and nerves in the end and frequently superinduce drug habits.

The exercises explained in the Home Health Club books, under the heading "Dynamic Magnetism;" the use of compound Gentian, which is an effective home remedy; care of the diet; avoidance of emotional excitement and worry; plenty of fresh, pure air and water, inside and out, travel, sightseeing, and good wholesome entertainment, under favorable conditions, as to sanitation, etc., will cure nervousness and nervous prostration.

As to the diet, positively shun tea, coffee, alcoholic drinks, and do not use tobacco in any form. If you have the tobacco habit, break yourself of it at once. No one with diseased nerves can stand up against the use of tobacco. It may be very difficult to leave it off, but if is not so bad as to go through life to an early grave, suffering with nervousness, which unfits one for any of the duties or pleasures of life.

Do not eat foods that are hard to digest. Otherwise the diet may be ordinary, wholesome foods that are in every respectable household. Do not eat too much starchy food, such as potatoes, nor much salt. Eat eggs, meat that is not fat, avoid spices and highly seasoned made foods, such as dressing and stuffing. Fish, milk, bread and butter are all strengthening and helpful. Pork and veal are very indigestible. Avoid them as you would tea, coffee, alcohol and tobacco, and avoid these as you would the rankest poison you ever heard of. Rank poison means sudden death, the other things mean lingering death, and the first is preferable.

If you will systematically follow this advice, you will find yourself growing steadier and stronger day by day, and in the course of a reasonable length of time, you will be as well as you ever were, and probably far better. But remember that it takes time and patience, and everyone has those to command and use, if he will.

Club Notes

Dear Doctor:—I am troubled with my feet. They bother me mostly at night—feel like neuralgia. I think the circulation is poor. The trouble seems to start right in the bottom of the feet and work upward. If you could give me a remedy that will help me I would be very thankful. J. B.

Soak the feet and legs up to the knees in steaming hot water, having the bathtub and knees well covered, so as to keep the heat and avoid the cold air in the room. Continue this for about thirty minutes, then take them out and plunge them into water of about 70 degrees temperature. Hold them there for about 30 seconds, or until the shock passes off, and you breathe easier, for on first plunging them into the cold water, you will "catch your breath" quickly. Have your bed ready and on taking the feet from the water, dry quickly and jump into bed. The increased circulation in the feet will soon cause them to glow and you will have no further pain. Repeat the process on the three following three nights which I believe will complete the cure.

Dear Doctor:—I have graulated sore eyes, or granulated lids. Will you please give me a remedy for this trouble? I am a reader of your lectures and enjoy them very much. Would like to know a cure for this trouble. J. H. S.

It is quite probable that you should have your eyes fitted carefully with glasses. After which you should drop into them, with a medicine dropper, about three or four drops of a saturated solution of boric acid. Any druggist can supply you with the dropper and solution, at a cost, for the two, of about twenty-five cents. Four ounces of the solution would probably be sufficient. This alone will not cure but will help. I have written you more fully of the details for a complete cure.

SUPREME LODGE OF PYTHIANS

"the Mother Country", and this will be considered. Some changes in the ritual are probable outcomes of the services of a committee which Past Supreme Chancellor W. B. Richie, of Ohio, is chairman. These changes will be purely for the purpose of more clearly presenting the beauty and power of the lessons of the order. It is not expected that any radical legislation will be attempted, and the convention promises to be a harmonious, successful and helpful gathering.

One of the topics that will engage the attention of the Supreme Lodge will be "Pythian Education," the extension of the knowledge of Pythian Knighthood and its work. Supreme Chancellor Hanson will speak at length on this subject and it is expected that the body will give much thoughtful consideration to the plans proposed. A committee consisting of Hon. John W. Stanton, Great Falls, Mont.; J. N. Tillman, president of the State University of Arkansas; Geo. W. Penniman, of Boston; M. M. Gillett, of Fond du Lac, Wis., and Orno Strong, of Tacoma, Wash., will first consider the subject and will report a plan for the conservation of Pythian interests and Pythian principles, as well as for an extension of the knowledge of the history and work of Pythian Knighthood.

The year 1914 will be the "Jubilee year" of the order. The first lodge was instituted in Washington, D. C., February 19, 1864, by Justus H. Rathbone, and 12 other government clerks. "They builded better than they knew." Today there are 7,900 lodges and 711,000 members. Ohio leads with 83,000; followed by Indiana with 65,000; Illinois 55,000; Pennsylvania 52,000; and Massachusetts 26,000. Chicago is the "banner" Pythian city in membership, with 21,000 Pythians in 141 lodges. Cleveland, New York, St. Louis and Boston, follow—and there are 39 cities in the United States with more than 1,000 members, united in the practice of "Friendship, Charity and Benevolence," in one of the greatest altruistic fellowships ever established by man. The celebration of the 50th anniversary will naturally be held in Washington. The Supreme Lodge will make it an occasion of National interest and wherever the Pythian order has been established it will be a memorable occasion, and the greatest epoch in the order's history.

The Pythian Order has an income of more than $6,000,000 a year; expends for relief upwards of $2,000,000 annually; has assets of $17,000,000 in the subordinate lodges; has $5,000,000 invested in Pythian Temples, Castle Halls and Homes for widows and orphans; has homes for widows and orphans in Ohio, Illinois, Missouri, Texas, Pennsylvania, North Carolina and Tennessee. Another home costing $100,000 is to be erected in New York. The Supreme Lodge has the largest cash balance ever reported to this body.

The Military Department of the order, the Uniform Rank, sometimes called "the Army of the Lily", will be reported by Gen. Arthur J. Stobbart, of St. Paul, Minn. For the first time in its history, the Rank is not meeting this year with the Supreme Lodge. There are 30,000 members, all Knights of Pythias. The organization is patterned after that of the regular army and is distinguished in being the only fraternal military organization so constituted and drilling under the United States Army drill regulations. The department teaches good citizenship, love of the flag and country, personal cleanliness in all acts, and an exemplification of "Honor, Justice and Loyalty."

The Insurance Department, which since its organization in 1877 has paid to the beneficiaries of deceased Pythians $33,500,000, has a membership of 70,000. It is a purely Pythian organization, under the supervision and operation of a board of control elected by the Supreme Lodge. The Supreme President is Hon. Union B. Hunt, of Indianapolis, Ind.—the headquarters of the department—Charles S. Davis, of Denver, is assistant to the president, and the other members are S. C. Hanson; P. S. C. Brown; S. V. C. Carling; Charles F. S. Neal, of Indiana; George A. Bangs, of North Dakota; William Ladew, of New York; U. S. G. Cherry, of Scuth Dakota, and W. J. Duval, of Hutchinson, Kan.

There are no special contests for officers of the Supreme Lodge except for Supreme Vice Chancellor, for which there are five candidates: John J. Brown, of Illinois; Charles S. Davis, of Colorado; William Ladew, of New York; Benjamin I. Salinger, of Iowa, and Brig. S. Young, of Ohio, all men of experience and ability.

While the Supreme Lodge is in convention at the State capital, the Supreme Temple Pythian Sisters, representing nearly 200,000 members, will hold their biennial session. Mrs. Sarah I. Cotton, of Weatherford, Texas, is Supreme Chief, and Miss M. Josie Nelson, Union City, Ind., is Supreme Mistress of Records and Correspondence. The Association of Grand Keepers of Records and Seal, of which W. T. Hollowell, of Goldsboro, N. C., is president, and the Pythian Editorial Association, of which Hon. H. M. Quin, Speaker of the Mississippi State House of Representatives, is president, will also meet during the week.

Denver Pythians will offer generous entertainment and a round of attractive features during the week. The Governor and Mayor will voice the welcome of State and city; a reception will be tendered the visitors; there will be an excursion to Corona, "the top of the world," and to Mt. Moorish; Supreme Representative Penniman, of Massachusetts, will give an illustrated lecture on "The Story of Pythian Knighthood"; special entertainments will be provided for the ladies of the party, and other features will make up a most attractive programme.

A unique feature of the week's programme will be a meeting at which the representatives of three of the great fraternities, representing an aggregate of more than 3,000,000 members, will emphasize the place and power of fraternity in individual and National life. The speaker will be John B. Corkum, of Indianapolis, Grand Sire of the 1,500,000 Odd Fellows and Rebekahs; George B. Griggs, Houstol, Texas, Great Incohonee of the 350,000 "Red Men", and Judge Hanson, representing the 711,000 Pythians. All are members of the Pythian order, and each man belongs to the other orders represented.

It will be a busy week for Denver fraternalists.

A NOTED DETECTIVE

Now that Burns is prominently before the public eye for his great work as a detective in many sections of the country, it is of interest to consider the work of other men, who, while not so prominent, are yet doing great things in running to earth lawbreakers.

Some fifteen years ago a minister, the Rev. W. M. Pinson, was serving some churches in South Carolina. Conditions were deplorably bad in that section. The laws were not enforced. The officials were in sympathy with the lawbreakers. There were no men in the community who were willing to take the lead in law enforcement. Mr. Pinson saw that his preaching on Sunday was made ineffective by lawlessness all the week and as no one else would undertake the work, he undertook it. So thoroughly was the cleaning up process done that other places called him to lead them in such work and deliver them from the curse of lawlessness. News of his work spread far and he was invited by the Anti-Saloon League of Missouri to become one of their district superintendents. So successful was his work that he was called to be Law Enforcement Superintendent of the League in the State of Arkansas. Here he planned and executed movements to crush out lawlessness and enforce law in many quarters. Joncsboro, Stuttgart, Cotton, Warren, Gordon, Monticello and many other towns were cleaned up as the direct result of his personal work. At that time one of the worst evils along the Mississippi river was the whiskey-boat business. Many of the worts criminals along the river built them boats, turned them into floating saloons, anchored off a dry town and did a thriving business. They could run across the river and pass out of the jurisdiction of the State; and the desperate nature of the criminals made the local authorities hestitate to attempt to arrest them. The evil became so demoralizing that Governor Noel, of Mississippi determined to break it up so far as his State was concerned. He enlisted Mr. Pinson in the work, and he secured the arrest and conviction of many of the criminals, and the burning of many of the boats. Following this, Governor Noel made him chief detective of the Law Enforcement League of the State of Mississippi, and much of his work was done under the Governor's orders. Probably the most noted piece of work he did during this time was in Durant, Miss. A man by the name of Clarence Turner, known locally as "King of the Tigers" had defied that community for years. He ran his tiger openly and above board, and if any person dared to testify in the court against him, he assaulted him, in more than one case right in the court room. His threat to kill any one who testified against him made it impossible for the local officials to do anything. In one affair, the city marshal, a night policeman and a brother-in-law of Turner, were all three killed. To remedy this condition of affairs Governor Noel sent Detective Pinson to Durant. He and a colleague secured all needed evidence, and on Turner's arrest testified against him. Turner attacked them in the Court House, but was overcome. Convictions were secured in the Holmes county court, and in the United States Court, and Turner is now serving time in the penitentiary in Atlanta.

The most wholesale piece of work Mr. Pinson ever did was in cleaning up the city of Shreveport, La. After many invitations he secured a leave of absence from Mississippi and went to Shreveport Conditions there were deplorable. Over one hundred blind tigers were running with wide-open doors. Public sentiment was lax and negative where not positively vicious. The criminals boasted over several States that Shreveport was a wide-open town and should remain a wide-open town. Some of the officials were thought to be in collusion with the thugs, and many were in sympathy with them. Disreputable lawyers of shrewdness, and restrained by no sense of honor, were in their employ. The case seemed hopeless. To Shreveport Pinson went. For months he quietly worked on the cases and the situation, and when he closed his campaign there, 81 of the tigers had been convicted, one of these a man worth a million. Several were convicted and sentenced for perjury. A large majority went to the roads. Shreveport had been cleaned up for the time being. But such things due hard. The tigers reopened, and here comes in the versatility of Detective Pinson. Known as he had been to the criminals of Shreveport, he returned at the end of two years, conducted another campaign unrecognized; caused the arrest of 26 more offenders, and secured the conviction of the most of them, and thus cleaned up Shreveport a second time.

Mr. Pinson is a splendid type of the true detective. Ex-Governors Longina and Noel speak in the highest terms of him. He has done a notable work wherever he has gone. Some one said to him once, "Pinson, you have quit preaching, haven't you?" "No, he said, a man can preach as great sermons in closing up these death-traps, as he could preach from any pulpit."

Investigation shows that as the temperature rises, the flies become more active, and intestinal diseases become more prevalent, with a corresponding increase in mortality. It is a mistake to think that these diseases are due to hot weather.

..Theatrical..

There can be no question but that last week was one of the greatest in the history of the popular Grand Theatre. The inauguration of the five-cent admission and the strengthening of the bills each day was appreciated by the public and they flocked there in countless numbers.

For tomorrow there will be a specially good bill headed by "The Return of William Marr," a splendid dramatic subject of great plot strength and power, featuring Miss Martha Russell in a superb role. William Marr, a drunkard, is the title character in the film and the story told teaches a strong moral lesson. It is an Essanay production and that is sufficient to guarantee it to all patrons of this theatre.

"An Indian Idyll," is another strong film that will feature the bill Monday. It is a beautiful story of Indian life and needs only to be seen to be appreciated. Still another good film will round out one of the best offerings of the week.

At the New Bijou.

In spite of the weather, the New Bijou was able to bring its big week—one of the greatest in its history—to a glorious finale yesterday in the way of large attendances. Of course, the huge crowds were delighted, because that is inevitable with the Bijou. This amusement palace will begin the new week tomorrow with an extra swell bill, and the programme tomorrow will be especially notable as it will present the noted moving picture actor, G. M. Anderson, of "Broncho Billie" fame and a star popular with Wilmington devotees of the "movies", in one of the greatest films ever manufactured. Mr. Anderson will be seen in the stellar role of "The Smuggler's Daughter," which is a film of thrills and one that has about it a fiction atmosphere that is especially magnetic. The smugglers' cave and the fight with the gang are realistic bits of work that will be greatly enjoyed by all. In this film Mr. Anderson does some of his most powerful romantic acting.

But this film, as fine as it is, will only share honors with other photo-play stars. One that will particularly appeal to the spirit of the times and will strike a responsive cord in the hearts of Wilmington people, will be "The Pennant Puzzle." It is a real baseball film, and while it is of comedy nature, it will create plenty of excitement.

But speaking about fun, the prince of all ludicrous films will be offered, as another Bijou star tomorrow. It will be "Uncle Ned's Diplomacy." It is rich fun, though with the laughs will be a fine moral lesson.

How Cool, How Pleasant

You haven't an idea until you visit the Grand Theatre. Five cents the price.

Don't buy any food from a dirty place. If flies "beat you to it," let them have it.

SCROFULOUS TROUBLES

No truth is more forcibly manifested in physical life than the old saying "like begets like;" for just as the offspring of healthy ancestry are blessed with pure, rich blood insuring good health, so the children of blood-tainted parentage inherit a polluted circulation which fosters a chain of scrofulous troubles. The usual sign of a scrofulous inheritance are swollen glands about the neck, weak eyes, pale, waxy complexions, sores and ulcers and general poor health. These symptoms are most often manifested in early life, though sometimes maturity is reached before the trouble breaks out. Treatment should be commenced at the first indication of Scrofula for it may get beyond control if allowed to run unchecked. S. S. S. is the very best treatment for Scrofula. It renovates the circulation and drives out all scrofulous matter and deposits. S. S. S. goes to the bottom of the trouble and removes the cause and cures the disease. Then it supplies the weak, blood with healthful properties. S. S. S. is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks, and is an absolutely safe remedy for young or old. Book on the blood and medical advice free.
